

Freedom Of Press Arguments Heard By Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — "What is the difference between everybody else in the courtroom going out and talking about what happened in the hearing and the press reporting it?" asked Justice Thurgood Marshall.

"The difference," replied Nebraska assistant Atty. Gen. Harold Mosher, "is one of degree."

The exchange was one of dozens between the nine members of the Supreme Court and four lawyers who argued before them Monday on the power of judges to restrict news coverage of criminal cases.

The court is expected to decide the question within a few weeks.

Before the court is a judge's order that prevented newsmen from reporting most of the evidence at a preliminary hearing last October in a Nebraska mass-murder case. The hearing was open to the public.

The order was one of an increasing number being issued by judges to curtail publicity, which they contend could make it impossible to obtain an impartial jury.

E. Barrett Prettyman Jr., a Washington lawyer representing news media challenging the Nebraska order, said such orders are ineffective and an unconstitutional prior restraint on publications.

"I would be here making this argument even if prior restraints worked," said Prettyman. "They don't work. They result in rumor, gossip and speculation, which is far more dangerous to the defendant than

Auto Industry May Have 2nd Best Year

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry could log its second best sales year ever in 1976 if labor talks this fall produce a "reasonable settlement" without a strike, the chairman of General Motors Corp. predicts.

Thomas A. Murphy said Monday he was raising GM's sales forecast for the year because the industry's recovery from a two-year slump was proceeding with greater resilience than expected.

Meanwhile, American Motors Corp. reported Monday it earned $1.2 million

Monkeys Endangered By Mankind

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 35 per cent of the world's monkey species may be threatened with extinction because of such human pursuits as war, farming, logging, medical research and pet-keeping, according to the Interior Department.

It proposed on Monday that 27 monkey species be added to the list of endangered or threatened animals, raising to 55 the total number of primates so listed by the United States.

The proposal published in the Federal Register followed a survey of the 150 living primate species by the department's U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

"About 35 per cent of the world's monkey species are in deep trouble," according to the survey.

Among the threatened species is the chimpanzee, described in the World Book encyclopedia as "the most intelligent of all animals." The decline of four Indochinese species was blamed on "military activities and other habitat disruptions."

It was proposed that 12 of the species be listed as endangered — a category that means they are in imminent danger of extinction in the wild. Fifteen of the species would be listed as threatened, meaning they are likely to become endangered in the foreseeable future if no action is taken to reverse the trend.

Endangered species receive complete federal protection. None can be killed, placed into commerce, or possessed without a special permit, which is given only for scientific purposes or to enhance the propagation or survival of the animal.

Threatened species regulations are written on a case-by-case basis depending on the needs of the animal.

Queen Notes 50th Birthday; 24 Years On Throne

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II observes her 50th birthday Wednesday after a 24-year reign that began with hopes for a second glorious Elizabeth Age but has been downhill all the way for Britain.

When George VI died on Feb. 6, 1952, and his older daughter became queen while on a visit to Africa, Britain was Western Europe's leading nation, the pound sterling was one of the world's more stable currencies, there were 100,000 British soldiers in the Suez Canal Zone, and British air and naval bases stretched to Hong Kong.

Today as the queen prepares for a quiet family birthday at Windsor Castle, Britain's wealth and power are sharply diminished, its empire dismembered, its economy in disarray.

"Future historians will have little factual reporting in newspapers."

County Attorney Milton R. Larson of Lincoln County, Neb., who successfully prosecuted Erwin Charles Simants for the October slayings, said, "I think if Mrs. Jones tells me something I am going to find it easier to put that aside than if I read in the newspaper that the evidence at a preliminary hearing showed it to be so."

Prettyman, asked by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger if he would take the same position if the judge told lawyers not to talk rather than newspapers not to publish, said an order that would be impermissible if directed at the press might be permissible if framed in a way to restrict out-of-court statements by attorneys.

Floyd Abrams, representing numerous media organizations that supported Nebraska news outlets in the case, said prior restraint on the press was "becoming commonplace and must be curbed. The power to levy prior restraints on news reporting is the power to destroy."

Justice John Paul Stevens asked what should be done about confessions that turn out to be inadmissible in court after they have been reported in the news. "We have to live with that," said Abrams.

Mosher argued that courts must achieve a "delicate balance" between the freedom of the press guaranteed in the First Amendment to the Constitution and the Sixth Amendment's guarantee of a fair trial.

during the first three months of 1976, reversing a $47.8 million loss during the same period last year.

AMC is the second U.S. auto maker to report a sharp turnaround from record year-earlier losses. Chrysler Corp. reported last week that it had net earnings of $72 million in the quarter, compared with a $94 million loss in the same 1975 period.

Murphy said combined U.S. car and truck sales, including imports, will top the 13.5 million units sold in 1972 and finish second only to the record 14.6 million sold in 1973.

He previously predicted sales this year would total about 13.3 million.

"This brighter forecast...carries one caution," Murphy said in a speech to the Economic Club of Detroit. "If 1976 indeed is to be the second best sales year in history, the labor negotiations in our industry must be resolved peacefully and responsibly without interruptions in production."

The company executive said he was confident, however, that an "equitable settlement" could be reached without a strike.

United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock, who attended the speech, told reporters afterwards that his union also would "certainly work for an equitable settlement," and added he too was optimistic a strike could be averted.

Current three-year contracts covering some 750,000 hourly workers represented by the UAW at the four auto companies expire in September. Negotiations open in mid-July.

The UAW has identified increased job opportunity and improved benefits for laidoff workers as its top bargaining goals. The companies have said efforts to make employees pick up part of their health insurance premiums will be a major issue.

"While management and labor may differ today on their views of how these negotiations will come out this year, there should be no difference in our understanding of the economic status of our employees as we begin these negotiations," Murphy said.

Calling auto workers the highest paid industrial employees in the world, Murphy said the average GM production worker grosses $16,000 a year before taxes and receives another $5,500 a year in fringe benefits, for a total of $21,500, an increase of about $6,000 from three years ago.

Murphy said GM's settlement with the UAW in 1973 proved to be very costly, primarily because of cost of living allowances which boosted hourly employees' pay by about $1.05 an hour.

Energy Conservation Given Fresh Impetus

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a policy reversal, the Ford administration is raising fuel conservation to equal status with developing new sources of energy in the effort to reduce U.S. dependence on foreign suppliers.

The Energy Research and Development Administration included the increased emphasis on conservation in an updated plan for energy research submitted to Congress on Monday.

The updated report estimated that conservation could save the nation at least one-third of today's oil consumption by 1985.

ERDA Administrator Robert C.

Seamans Jr. said the update "reflects widespread public reaction to the initial plan," which last June downgraded conservation in favor of developing new energy sources.

The administration said then that significant fuel savings would require mandatory conservation measures that Congress would not pass.

However, early this month the government reported a steady drop in energy consumption since 1973 due, at least in part, to conservation.

Seamans said, in outlining the new plan, that his agency has not worked out details of an aggressive conservation program. But he said it will include development of better ways to insulate homes and buildings, and elimination of pilot lights for gas stoves and heaters.

The report said conservation is much less expensive than production and can be effected more rapidly.

"It typically costs less to save a barrel of oil than to produce one through the development of new technology," the report said. "Energy conservation generally has a more beneficial effect on the environment than does energy produced and used."

Seamans said, "I believe it impossible to exaggerate the need to make more efficient use of energy. Each barrel saved means one not imported."

ERDA's new plan estimated that improving the efficiency of energy use could bring savings of 5.3 million to 7.3 million barrels of oil per day by 1985, an equivalent of one-third to one-half the nation's present total oil consumption.

Seamans said his agency will try to improve energy efficiency in factories, buildings and transportation, and in the generation of electricity, where much of the energy waste takes place.

Tornadoes Touch Down In 3 States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The threat of tornadoes continued to plague states in the Midwest and Southwest today, while much of the East looked forward to some small relief from the 90-degree temperatures that have been around for three days.

The weatherman called for a slight drop in temperatures in the Northeast today, but said unseasonably warm weather for the rest of the East coast would continue.

Monday's high in Providence, R.I., was 98 degrees. That was 14 degrees above the old mark for any April day in Providence.

New York City cooled off a bit Monday with a high of 92. New Yorkers experienced an April record of 96 degrees over the weekend.

Tourists lucky enough to escape the Northeast's record heat wave by vacationing in Florida the past few days were not as fortunate when it came to air quality.

Much of the Sunshine State was blanketed with smog, and the National Weather Service in Miami said the haze would be around for another day or so.

In the nation's tornado belt, meanwhile, the weather service had reports late Monday of 17 twisters touching down in Texas, 10 in Oklahoma and one in Nebraska.

The most destructive storm hit the town of Brownwood in central Texas, injuring 10 persons and destroying a number of buildings.

A tornado watch was in effect into the early hours today in parts of Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri and Texas.

Showers were scattered north through the Plains states and into western Ohio early today, and rain was reported in the Northwest from Washington into Northern California.

Committee Elects Officers

The pickaway County Solid Waste Disposal Steering Committee met Monday at the County Commissioners' office for its organizational meeting.

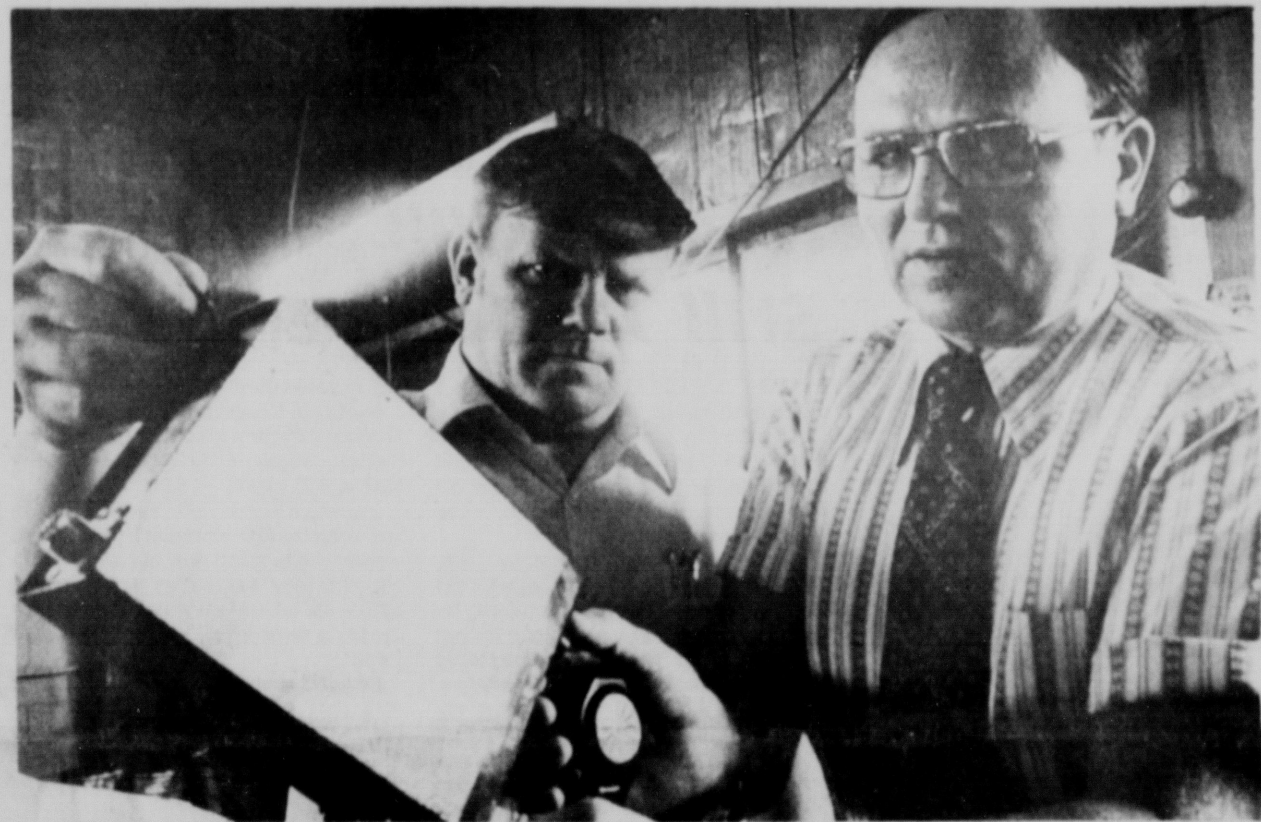

Officers elected are Chairman Mrs. John Stevenson, Vice Chairman Joe Ogan, and Secretary Gordon Fraser.

Other members of the committee are C. V. Neal, Gary Weaver, Thomas Duval, and H. M. Everhart.

Purpose of the committee is to seek a permanent solution to the solid waste disposal problem affecting the county. The present landfill has an estimated life of 18 months.

The committee requests that offers for a possible landfill site be sent to the committee in care of the County Commissioners Office. All applications, suggestions, and offers will be strictly confidential.

Men Nabbed In CB Thefts

LOOK AT EVIDENCE — Circleville Police Sgt. Larry Pontious, whose department arrested three men believed responsible for the theft of CB radios and other merchandise from parked cars, and Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff examine one of the radios which was hidden in the suspects' car. The men may also have been responsible for thefts in Ashville, Lockbourne Lodge Trailer Park, and Swackhammer Road.

Three Akron men are being detained on charges of criminal trespassing as Circleville Police and Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies continue their investigation of numerous thefts of citizen band radios and other items from parked cars.

The trio was apprehended early Tuesday morning by Circleville Police from various hiding places in the city's near north side.

Persons arrested are Ricky Lee Hicks, 19, Robert T. Hart, 18, and Steven Smith, 19, all of Akron. Additional charges are expected to be filed against the trio, who are all being held under $10,000 bond.

Smith faces an additional charge of falsification, as he told police his name was Robert Boyle.

As of press time today, three thefts had been reported from vehicles in Ashville, three from vehicles on Swackhammer Road, and four from Circleville residents.

Most of the merchandise was found in their car late Tuesday morning as Police and Deputies, accompanied by an agent from London's Bureau of Criminal Investigation, searched the vehicle. About 10 CB radios were found hidden in the rear of the station wagon.

Fingerprints are being collected and identification of the merchandise is being made. Deputies plan to compare fingerprint samples with those collected by Detective Don Thompson following his investigation of a similar incident at the Lockbourne Lodge Trailer Park.

Police were alerted to the trio 2:28 a.m. Tuesday by an unidentified caller, who spotted the men ransacking autos in the vicinity of Montclair Ave. The caller furnished officers

Meanwhile, Ptl. Galer, Ptl. Jim Ford, and civilian police dispatcher Mark Hoffman patrolled the area in their cars.

The three men returned to the vehicle about 3:15 a.m., Sgt. Pontious said. But they immediately fled on foot.

Queen Notes 50th Birthday; 24 Years On Throne

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II observes her 50th birthday Wednesday after a 24-year reign that began with hopes for a second glorious Elizabethan Age but has been downhill all the way for Britain.

When George VI died on Feb. 6, 1952, and his older daughter became queen while on a visit to Africa, Britain was Western Europe's leading nation, the pound sterling was one of the world's more stable currencies, there were 100,000 British soldiers in the Suez Canal Zone, and British air and naval bases stretched to Hong Kong.

Today as the queen prepares for a quiet family birthday at Windsor Castle, Britain's wealth and power are sharply diminished, its empire dismembered, its economy in disarray.

"Future historians will have little choice but to dismiss this period of our national life as one of unrelieved failure," the weekly New Statesman said recently. But it added: "The monarchy still appears a stable feature of our national life: perhaps the only thing that is."

The 19th century constitutional expert Walter Bagehot once commented that only three rights remained to the monarch: "the right to be consulted, the right to encourage, the right to warn."

But "after 24 years on the throne, the queen is the only person in Westminster and Whitehall who has followed, at the very highest level, the process of top-level decision-making going back over a whole generation," Paul Johnson, former editor of the New Statesman, wrote in the Daily Express.

"She has outlasted five British prime ministers, four U.S. presidents, three changes of regime in Russia, four German chancellors, two popes, and countless French and Italian governments — to say nothing of such venerable fixtures as De Gaulle, Franco, Chiang Kaishek and Haile Selassie.

"Only Mao Tse-tung and Marshal Tito can claim greater continuity at the top, and they are in their 80s."

Public criticisms of the queen are confined almost entirely "to the marginal aspects of her existence — her dress-sense, her voice, her ferocious small dogs — and testify merely to the poverty of the material that can be amassed against her personally," the New Statesman said.

Scottish Laborite Willie Hamilton never lets up in his campaign to abolish the monarchy, which he attacks as an expensive, useless anachronism. But in his anti-royalty book last year, "My Queen and I," he said he had never said "a cruel or critical word" against Queen Elizabeth personally.

Most Britons view the royal establishment with quiet pride.

"She's good value for money, she is," one young Londoner said.

Millions still follow the unfolding royal story as if it was their favorite soap opera. The queen and her family are still persistent headline-makers in Britain and among the country's biggest crowd pullers. Thousands through the Mall and Whitehall every year for the queen's coach ride in October to open Parliament and the Trooping of the Color for the official celebration of her birthday in June, when the weather is most likely to be good.

The queen's oldest son and heir, Prince Charles, has matured into a serious, 27-year-old man with all the attributes Britons look for in a monarch — good looks, a sense of humor, tact, a quick mind and a talent for making people feel at ease.

This has prompted some speculation that his mother may abdicate some day in his favor. But despite the prince's popularity, most Britons would probably not favor the change for many years to come.

The queen has been less lucky in her younger sister, Princess Margaret, who has presented her with the two biggest personal crises of her reign. One was Margaret's romance with a divorced man, Group Capt. Peter Townsend, in 1955. The other was her separation this year from her husband, the Earl of Snowdon.

Because the queen is the titular head of the Church of England and the church frowns on divorce, Margaret renounced Townsend after weeks of family anguish and a fever of public speculation. And though the change in public attitudes in 20 years was reflected by the open acknowledgment that Margaret's marriage had broken down, tradition was maintained by the queen's decision to approve a separation but not a divorce.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market surged higher in active trading early today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stock prices was ahead more than two points.

The advance was widespread, with New York Stock Exchange issues rising in price holding a 3-1 margin on those declining.

The market closed Monday on the upswing, with investors encouraged by a better than expected showing for the Gross National Product in the first three months of the year.

The market has benefitted by other economic activity, analysts said, including a higher new car sales estimate by General Motors and relatively low yields in the bond market.

Reports of higher corporate profits have also been reaching the market in the past few days, giving a boost to individual stocks.

Today's early prices included American Telephone & Telegraph, up 1/4 at 56; Braniff International, up 1/4 at 10 1/2; and Sears Roebuck, up 1/2 at 74 1/2.

On Monday, the Dow Jones industrial average closed at 988.11, a gain of 7.63. NYSE listed stocks advancing in price held a 10-4 margin on those declining.

Ohio Assembly Back In Session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's lawmakers returned from their Easter break today to begin a two week drive leaders hope will bring adjournment of the current session a week from Thursday.

Among items up for a vote in the House was a Senate measure that would provide voluntary identification cards for the elderly and handicapped — substituting them for driver's licenses other citizens use to cash checks or otherwise establish their identity.

Gov. James A. Rhodes vetoed a similar bill last year, saying it im-

Men Nabbed . . .

The four officers began a running search of the area.

Hoffman spotted Hart hiding under a bush behind Stevenson's home; Smith was located under a car in J. C. Scott's garage at 624 Beverly Road; and Hicks was found hiding under a camping trailer in the back yard of the 703 N. Pickaway St. home of Floyd Glover.

They were arrested about 4 a.m.

Sheriff's Deputies are investigating the possibility that the men may have been involved in similar thefts in Ashville and the Swackhammer Road subdivision. Both areas were hit in much the same manner prior to the Circleville incidences, Deputies said. Witnesses can apparently identify the car used.

Deputies said three cars were entered in Ashville prior to 12:45 a.m., when a burglar alarm siren on a car owned by Chet Gloyd, Penny Lane, was activated.

Currently being investigated by Circleville Police are thefts reported by:

Donald Meenach, 1107 Atwater Ave., where a Sharp 23-channel CB radio, two flashlights, a pair of binoculars, and a boat license were taken;

J. Phillip Brown, 123 Park St., where a Realistic 23-channel CB radio, FM stereo and tape player combination, tool box with tools, and a fire extinguisher were taken;

L. D. Varble, 526 Northridge Road, where a LaFayette 23-channel CB was taken from a pick-up truck;

Thomas Hickey, 898 N. Court St., where a Cobra 29 CB radio was taken; In Ashville, persons reporting thefts were:

Kenneth Starkey, 110 Maple St., where a J. C. Penny 23-channel CB radio and Kodak camera were taken; Charles B. Smith, 113 Maple St., where a .22 caliber rifle, ammunition, and a brief case were taken;

Swackhammer Road residents reporting thefts were:

Carl L. Smith, Route 5, where a Teaberry 23-channel CB radio was taken from a truck, and a motorcycle helmet and pliers were taken from the garage;

David W. Marquis, 526 Swackhammer Road, where an Xtal 23-channel CB radio and various tools were taken from a pick-up truck;

And Roe Riegel, 607 Swackhammer Road, where a Pace 123 A 23-channel CB radio was taken from a locked car, and a Realistic CB radio was taken from a locked truck.

Hughes Will Search Still At Dead End

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Hollywood bank safe deposit box maintained by Howard Hughes yielded some jewelry but further stymied those looking for the late billionaire's will, a source knowledgeable about the search says.

A source close to the Summa Corp. said Monday that officials didn't find the will Hughes associates insist he wrote and that some have said he put under lock at the South Hollywood Branch of the Bank of America.

The box held only some "not extremely valuable jewelry," the source said.

Summa runs Hughes' farflung entertainment and aerospace enterprises. Some of the people who were closest to Hughes hold key positions in the corporation.

A former top Hughes aide, Noah Dietrich, said last week that the billionaire made a will and placed it in a box at the South Hollywood bank about two years before Dietrich left the organization in 1957.

Dietrich, Gregson Bautzer, a former Hughes attorney and a spokesman for Summa, restated their belief Monday that a will exists — somewhere.

Investigators are poring over files in Los Angeles and elsewhere for clues to where Hughes left the document telling where he wanted his more than $2 billion in assets distributed after his death, a source told The Associated Press.

Several people have said Hughes indicated he wanted the bulk of his estate turned over to the Hughes Medical Institute in Miami, but so far there has been no legal confirmation of that wish.

Arelo Sederberg, a Summa spokesman, said, "There is a continuing search for a will (but) for legal reasons we're not disclosing how the search is being done."

"We're only saying we think there is a will."

If no will is found, officials have estimated that as much as two-thirds of the estate automatically will revert to government bodies as taxes.

Bautzer, a Los Angeles attorney who did legal work for Hughes for 25 years, confirmed that the box at the South Hollywood branch of the Bank of America had been opened but didn't say what it contained.

Bautzer said the search for the document may be complicated because he believes Hughes probably wrote the will in his own handwriting without witnesses.

He said Hughes asked him in person and by telephone many times about the legality of holographic (unwitnessed) wills. He said such wills are legal and could be prepared without knowledge of any other person.

But Dietrich says it's unlikely Hughes would have left a secret handwritten will prepared without the aid of typists or attorneys.

Udall Out In Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Rep. Morris Udall's name will not appear on the ballot for Indiana's May 4 primary.

The U.S. Supreme Court Monday declined to decide by May 1 whether the Arizona Democrat was wrongfully denied a spot in the presidential primary. Udall had appealed a decision by Indiana Secretary of State Larry A. Conrad that Udall petitions from the 6th District had insufficient signatures.

Udall said he was disappointed with the decision and felt Indiana was important to his campaign, coming at a crucial time a week after Pennsylvania.

"We ought to have a simpler system so people who want to run for president and have strong support can get on the ballot in every state without running the risks of these kinds of technicalities."

posed too big a financial burden on the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in issuing the cards and might create a system vulnerable to fraud. The vetoed bill provided cards for all nondrivers.

The new bill, approved by the Senate 25-0 on March 1, is designed to overcome Rhodes' objections by requiring a $2.50 fee. Sponsors said $2 of the fee will go to defray costs and 50 cents to deputy motor vehicle registrars empowered to issue the color photograph cards.

Both chambers faced a heavy calendar of bills, but most were routine in nature as the more meaty issues remained at various stages of consideration in committees. One measure up for a Senate vote today, for instance, calls for the preservation of Ohio's prehistoric Indian mounds.

The two items standing as major roadblocks to the planned April 29 adjournment were in committees.

One, a widely debated bill already approved by both houses but in different versions, was sent to a Senate-House conference committee to try to resolve differences. It establishes a new rate making formula for Ohio's electricity, natural gas, and telephone companies. That panel planned to meet following today's Senate floor session.

The second measure being given top billing is one that supposedly would guard against future property tax increases brought on by inflation. Already approved by the House, it is in a Senate subcommittee which will try to get down to specifics on amendments this Thursday.

A major change contemplated in the House version of that bill is the elimination of language that sought to give retroactive consideration to taxpayers hit with inflation-boosted bills since the state began its current six-year property reappraisal cycle in 1972.

Another snag yet to be resolved involves a bill establishing state regulation of charitable bingo, authorized by a 1975 constitutional amendment. It has been approved by the Senate, but now is stalled in the House Judiciary Committee where Chairman Harry Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, is trying to reach a compromise.

There are no hearings scheduled this week on the bingo bill, however.

King Lunches With Auto Magnates

DETROIT (AP) — King Carl XVI Gustaf of Sweden, a car buff, plans to visit the Ford Motor Co. River Rouge plant assembly line today and lunch with the chairmen of all four major U.S. auto companies.

The king, in the United States on a Bicentennial visit, will tour a car assembly line with Henry Ford II as his guide.

The luncheon at the Detroit Athletic Club also will have Gov. William Milliken and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young in attendance.

The king, 29, is scheduled to be in Detroit for a two-day visit before flying to Houston on Thursday.

NEW BECKY — Jane Ridley, a petite young native of Wallington, England will portray Rebecca Galloway in the 1976 season of "Tecumseh!" Outdoor Drama. The Chillicothe Ohio drama begins its Bicentennial season on June 21 and runs nightly except Sunday through Sept. 4.

A major change contemplated in the House version of that bill is the elimination of language that sought to give retroactive consideration to taxpayers hit with inflation-booster bills since the state began its current six-year property reappraisal cycle in 1972.

Another snag yet to be resolved involves a bill establishing state regulation of charitable bingo, authorized by a 1975 constitutional amendment. It has been approved by the Senate, but now is stalled in the House Judiciary Committee where Chairman Harry Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, is trying to reach a compromise.

There are no hearings scheduled this week on the bingo bill, however.

King Lunches With Auto Magnates

DETROIT (AP) — King Carl XVI Gustaf of Sweden, a car buff, plans to visit the Ford Motor Co. River Rouge plant assembly line today and lunch with the chairmen of all four major U.S. auto companies.

The king, in the United States on a Bicentennial visit, will tour a car assembly line with Henry Ford II as his guide.

The luncheon at the Detroit Athletic Club also will have Gov. William Milliken and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young in attendance.

The king, 29, is scheduled to be in Detroit for a two-day visit before flying to Houston on Thursday.

NEW BECKY — Jane Ridley, a petite young native of Wallington, England will portray Rebecca Galloway in the 1976 season of "Tecumseh!" Outdoor Drama. The Chillicothe Ohio drama begins it's Bicentennial season on June 21 and runs nightly except Sunday through Sept. 4.

Firefighters Back After Walkout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Firefighters returned to work today for an 8 a.m. shift, Safety Director Bernard Chupka said, apparently ending a day-long sickout in a contract dispute.

"The situation is normal," Chupka said, "It seems as though everyone has reported, except three individuals, which is not unusual."

The safety director said his office would monitor the situation to make sure the fire department continues normal operations.

Meanwhile, negotiators for the city and firefighters union planned to meet today with a federal mediator.

Teeth Heir Wants To Recycle Dentures

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't think this is a stupid question, but I don't know who else to ask.

Is there some place that buys used dentures?

I have six sets that are good as new. They belonged to members of my family who are now deceased. Three pair belonged to my grandmother, and she never wore any of them for more than three months.

It seems a shame to just throw them out if they could be of use to someone. I would even be glad to GIVE them away if you could tell me where to send them.

I called my own dentist and asked if he wanted to buy them, and he said, "My God, lady, I don't BUY dentures, I SELL them!"

Please answer this as I am serious.

TEETH ON MY HANDS

DEAR TEETH: There's undoubtedly a law (with teeth in it) prohibiting the sale of used dentures. And I wouldn't know to whom you could give them.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the 31-year-old irate bachelor who always gets the "how-come-you're-not-married" routine when applying for employment prompts this letter:

I'm 45 and divorced many years with no intention of remarrying. Ten years ago I applied for a position with the Chamber of Commerce of one of Ohio's largest cities.

The interview went very well until the man in charge said, "I notice on your resume that you're not married." Then he said with a wink, "Not a 'homo' by any chance, are you?"

I just looked at him incredulously while he went on to sermonize on the virtues of marriage and explain that the Chamber wanted a "family man" whose wife could socialize with the wives of other chamber members and how a single man was usually "unstable" and just wouldn't fit in. He made it clear that a single man was "suspect" and didn't quite have the wholesome, highly moral image they required.

A week later, the same man called and asked me to meet him downtown for dinner that evening to "talk things over." Thinking that he had reconsidered hiring me, I gladly accepted.

When I got to the restaurant he had already had a few drinks, but he wasn't drunk. He was very friendly and told me what a handsome, sophisticated, cool young man I was, as he gripped my hand and slapped my thigh.

He went on to say that his wife and kids were at the lake for a week and he enjoyed being a bachelor for a while because he was trapped in a rotten marriage, etc.

"What about the job?" I asked.

"No. Too bad. They still prefer a stable, family-type man. But how about coming to the house and spending the weekend with me, because I'm not all that straight, and I really dig the gay life?"

I simply got up, shook his hand and walked out as he burst into tears and yelled, "Go to hell, you!"

Circleville Native Promoted

W. C. BROWN

W. C. Brown of Midland was promoted to lead quality assurance inspector at Drilco Industrial-Division of Smith International, Inc., headquartered in Midland, Tex.

Drilco Industrial manufactures and markets various types of drilling tools and equipment used in the mining (including open-pit), exploration, construction, big hole and water well industries.

Smith International is a leading manufacturer and supplier of an extensive range of sub-surface drilling tools and equipment and related services to the energy industries. It also provides directional drilling services to the petroleum industry.

Brown joined Drilco Industrial on Feb. 10, 1975, as a QA inspector class "A", and held the position until his recent promotion.

Born in Circleville, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Brown of Springfield, Ohio.

Brown attended schools in Circleville, and was graduated from Circleville High. He has taken several courses in welding and quality control.

Brown married the former Patricia Kittrege of Flagstaff, Ariz. They have two sons, Watson and James Daniel.

Outstanding Young Men Listed

The board of advisors for the Outstanding Young Men of America Awards program announced today that four area men have been selected for inclusion in the 1976 edition of "The Outstanding Young Men of America."

They are Don R. Forquer, Randy L. Nungester, Frank William Welsh, all of Ashville, and Danny L. Eitel, Chillicothe.

The Outstanding Young Men of America Program is sponsored by the U.S. Jaycees and numerous other leading men's civic and service organizations throughout the nation. Serving as chairman of its 12-man Advisory Board is Doug Blankenship, U.S. Jaycee past president.

In every community there are young men working diligently to make their cities, as well as their country, better places in which to live. These men, having distinguished themselves in one or more fields of endeavor, are outstanding and deserve to be recognized for their achievements. The criteria for selection include a man's voluntary service to community, professional leadership, academic achievement, business advancement, cultural accomplishments and civic and political participation.

The men listed along with approximately 9000 fellow Outstanding Young Men from the United States, will be featured in this prestigious annual awards publication.

Vegetable Research Promoted In State

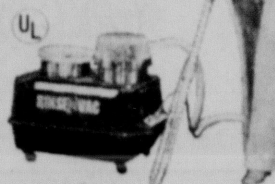

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Vegetable research will be promoted in the state by a new 10-member committee of the Ohio Vegetable and Potato Growers Association.

William McNutt, association secretary, said the committee will identify research needs for controlling plant diseases, improving pesticide and fertilizer use and developing new plant varieties for Ohio's $30 million vegetable industry.

Demo Solons Seek U.S. Seats

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three Democratic state senators, midway through their current legislative terms, are on the campaign trail in bids for election to Congress.

Two of them, Sens. Anthony J. Celebrezze Jr., D-25 Cleveland, and Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin, are aiming at northeastern Ohio districts that will be vacated by incumbent congressmen.

A third, Sen. William F. Bowen, D-9

Cincinnati, is challenging the present officeholder. But unlike his two Senate colleagues, Bowen is assured a November race since he is unopposed in the June 8 Democratic primary.

Celebrezze's contest in the 20th district is unique. The 34-year-old attorney has 11 primary opponents, including his cousin James P. Celebrezze, a former state representative. The others are Michael L. Cimaco, Norbert G. Dennerl Jr., John T. Flanagan, Donald T. Galligher, Edward A. Ginley, Michael G. Kelly, Ronald J. Novak, Mary Rose Oskar, Basil M. Russo, and Raymond A. Stachewicz.

Whoever emerges from the pack will face independents Raymond J. Grabow and Theodore Held III in November, but no Republican. A GOP candidate has not filed.

The seat will be left open by the departure of Rep. James V. Stanton, who is running for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate.

Pease, a 44-year-old newspaper editor, is seeking office in the 13th district where Charles A. Mosher, a Republican from Lorain, is retiring. Pease faces John Michael Ryan, of Lorain who opposed Mosher in 1972, and Robert C. Salkowitz, also of Lorain.

Woodrow W. Mathna, former mayor of Lorain, and Huron Councilman Peter A. Walderzak are vying for the Republican nomination.

Bowen, a 46-year-old businessman, can relax, at least until June 9. In November, he will face either Rep.

Willis D. Gradison, the Republican incumbent, or William E. Flax of Cincinnati who is taking on Gradison in the primary. Independent Christopher L. Martinson of Cincinnati, is also in the race.

Bowen, Pease and Celebrezze all enjoy the luxury of a secure seat in Columbus if they fail to attain Congressional seats in Washington. All three Senate terms run until 1978.

Baboons Defying Kings Island Plans

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP) — Amusement park officials at Kings Island are trying to figure out a new attack after recaptured baboons got away again Monday night despite the newly installed electrification of the 12-foot compound fence.

Most of the 50 runaway baboons were caught but Kings Island amusement park officials had to turn them loose again after six of the apes scrambled back over the fence.

"You can say we're sort of at a baboon standoff," said publicist Dan Edwards.

He said park officials huddled Monday night "trying to figure out our options, what we are going to do next."

Edwards said 30 of the simian escapees were lured back into the compound with fruit while 19 of the Olive baboons remained outside the 12-foot fence.

Rather than keep the 30 baboons inside the fence, park officials decided to let them go in hopes of eventually getting them all back.

"We were afraid the ones inside might send out distress signals to the others and they would panic and run away," Edwards said.

The baboons have plenty of food in the wooded hill area. They eat leaves, grass and birds eggs.

"We are giving them fruit as a treat to keep them interested," Edwards said. The park needs them back inside before opening Saturday for the season.

The baboons escaped Wednesday but remained on park land barely in sight of the compound.

One baboon became separated from the others and was reported traveling eastward. It was sighted near Morrow, Ohio Monday.

Edwards said one of the options will be to keep the Lion Country Safari, where the animals are kept, closed on Saturday. The only way to view the animals is from a monorail train.

"The monorail might not run Saturday. This is one of the possibilities," Edwards said.

The compound had another runaway in 1974 when a young male lion climbed over the monorail track and escaped into an outer fenced area for several days. He was drugged and carried back to his fenced area.

Cooper Tire Walkout Ended

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Striking workers at the Cooper Tire Co. decided to end a wildcat walkout Monday, after meeting for four hours with the union local president.

About 200 tire builders struck over the weekend, protesting piece rates paid by the company. Brownie Vantrease, president of Auto Workers Union Local 207, called the strike illegal and ordered the men to return.

The local met Monday to discuss issues in the walkout, then returned to the job. A Cooper spokesman said full production has resumed at the plant, which employs 770.

Workers had complained that a new pay schedule would cut their wages $10 to $15 per day.

Company officials said they would not discuss the situation with workers until they returned to work.

Sabina Man Faces Charge

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Federal firearms agents have filed a charge of failing to report a gun being carried aboard an airplane against a Sabina, Ohio man, held by Boone County Police.

Jeffrey Freeland, 22, was arrested by security police at Greater Cincinnati Airport Friday after a nine millimeter pistol and $53,100 was found in his baggage.

Freeland, held under $10,000 bond, is scheduled for arraignment Thursday in Boone County Court on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Agents of the treasury department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms filed the felony gun charge after questioning Freeland in jail Monday.

Boone County Police Chief Thomas Schwartz said the gun was reported stolen in Dayton, Ohio.

Schwartz said the FBI ran a check on the cash and was unable to trace it.

The famed Michelson-Morley experiments on the speed of light took place at Cleveland's Case School of Applied Science, founded in 1880, in Ohio.

The seat will be left open by the departure of Rep. James V. Stanton, who is running for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate.

Pease, a 44-year-old newspaper editor, is seeking office in the 13th district where Charles A. Mosher, a Republican from Lorain, is retiring. Pease faces John Michael Ryan, of Lorain who opposed Mosher in 1972, and Robert C. Salkowitz, also of Lorain.

Woodrow W. Mathna, former mayor of Lorain, and Huron Councilman Peter A. Walderzak are vying for the Republican nomination.

Bowen, a 46-year-old businessman, can relax, at least until June 9. In November, he will face either Rep.

Willis D. Gradison, the Republican incumbent, or William E. Flax of Cincinnati who is taking on Gradison in the primary. Independent Christopher L. Martinson of Cincinnati, is also in the race.

Bowen, Pease and Celebrezze all enjoy the luxury of a secure seat in Columbus if they fail to attain Congressional seats in Washington. All three Senate terms run until 1978.

Baboons Defying Kings Island Plans

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP) — Amusement park officials at Kings Island are trying to figure out a new attack after recaptured baboons got away again Monday night despite the newly installed electrification of the 12-foot compound fence.

Most of the 50 runaway baboons were caught but Kings Island amusement park officials had to turn them loose again after six of the apes scrambled back over the fence.

"You can say we're sort of at a baboon standoff," said publicist Dan Edwards.

He said park officials huddled Monday night "trying to figure out our options, what we are going to do next."

Edwards said 30 of the simian escapees were lured back into the compound with fruit while 19 of the Olive baboons remained outside the 12-foot fence.

Rather than keep the 30 baboons inside the fence, park officials decided to let them go in hopes of eventually getting them all back.

"We were afraid the ones inside might send out distress signals to the others and they would panic and run away," Edwards said.

The baboons have plenty of food in the wooded hill area. They eat leaves, grass and birds eggs.

"We are giving them fruit as a treat to keep them interested," Edwards said. The park needs them back inside before opening Saturday for the season.

The baboons escaped Wednesday but remained on park land barely in sight of the compound.

One baboon became separated from the others and was reported traveling eastward. It was sighted near Morrow, Ohio Monday.

Edwards said one of the options will be to keep the Lion Country Safari, where the animals are kept, closed on Saturday. The only way to view the animals is from a monorail train.

"The monorail might not run Saturday. This is one of the possibilities," Edwards said.

The compound had another runaway in 1974 when a young male lion climbed over the monorail track and escaped into an outer fenced area for several days. He was drugged and carried back to his fenced area.

Cooper Tire Walkout Ended

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Striking workers at the Cooper Tire Co. decided to end a wildcat walkout Monday, after meeting for four hours with the union local president.

About 200 tire builders struck over the weekend, protesting piece rates paid by the company. Brownie Van-trease, president of Auto Workers Union Local 207, called the strike illegal and ordered the men to return.

The local met Monday to discuss issues in the walkout, then returned to the job. A Cooper spokesman said full production has resumed at the plant, which employs 770.

Workers had complained that a new pay schedule would cut their wages $10 to $15 per day.

Company officials said they would not discuss the situation with workers until they returned to work.

Sabina Man Faces Charge

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Federal firearms agents have filed a charge of failing to report a gun being carried aboard an airplane against a Sabina, Ohio man, held by Boone County Police.

Jeffrey Freeland, 22, was arrested by security police at Greater Cincinnati Airport Friday after a nine millimeter pistol and $53,100 was found in his baggage.

Freeland, held under $10,000 bond, is scheduled for arraignment Thursday in Boone County Court on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Agents of the treasury department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms filed the felony gun charge after questioning Freeland in jail Monday.

Boone County Police Chief Thomas Schwartz said the gun was reported stolen in Dayton, Ohio.

Schwartz said the FBI ran a check on the cash and was unable to trace it.

New Look At Crime

Penologists and others involved in the serious study of criminal behavior in the United States appear to be turning in favor of harsher penalties for lawbreakers. The reason for the changing attitude are both pragmatic and scientific.

On the practical side, a look at the constantly increasing crime rates and record number of prisoners — so high in some states that prison overcrowding is a serious problem — tells us that the techniques of the past simply are not working. Repeat offenders make up a high percentage of prison populations, again evidence of past failures.

One of those who believes rehabilitation has failed to reduce crime is Robert Martinson, a sociologist with the City University of New York. A review of 231 programs directed at rehabilitating the criminal in various parts of the nation between 1945 and 1967 has convinced Martinson that "the rehabilitative efforts that have been supported so far have had no appreciable effect on recidivism."

Perhaps the problem is that too few have looked at crime from the criminal's point of view. Which is likely to be the stronger deterrent to crime, the certainty of capture and conviction coupled with a mandatory sentence or the good chance of plea bargaining to a lesser offense, an early parole and other measures of leniency?

The arguments over what to do with the criminal and how to stop him from becoming one in the first place continue, but sentiment is leaning more to the side of the law-abiding citizen who is becoming fed up.

When, Not If

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

PLAINS, Ga. — Jimmy Carter ambles into the Carter Warehouse, and the local farmers treat him as if he'd never been away chasing the ultimate dream. "Anybody plantin' yet?" he says. "Some," says younger brother Billy, who runs the family peanut farming business. Jimmy is wearing a knit shirt, open below the famous open smile — both smile and shirt a bit tired and faded, but in Plains, Ga., who cares?

Down the street by the tracks, the rustic train depot has just been converted into a "Carter for President Headquarters," selling T shirts, campaign buttons and five-pound bags of Carter peanuts.

"Do you think Plains (pop. 683) is going to change when you become President?" a stranger asks the candidate. (In Plains, you say "when," not "if," because Jimmy's confidence is contagious.) "I don't think anything will happen much," he replies easily. "We have strict zoning laws."

If Jimmy Carter is concerned about his "ethnic purity" slip, which plunged him into political hot water, he's not admitting it. And his old neighbors, and particularly his family, do not consider it a vital threat to his drive for the nomination.

"I doubt if 80 per cent of the people know what 'ethnic' and 'purity' really mean," says 38-year-old brother Billy, "and those who do, I'm sure, know what Jimmy meant by it. His opponents just rode it to death."

"If Jackson or Udall had said it, it would never have been noticed," believes Jimmy's politically savvy 78-year-old mother, known affectionately hereabouts as "Miss Lillian" Carter. "They ought to forget it now and look at him on his record."

Miss Lillian is not worried. "Jimmy came here to see me this morning, bare-footed and in shorts — he never changes, you know, he's always just Jimmy. He thinks when he's elected he'll make the United States the greatest place on earth, and he believes it, and I agree. He says he's not going to miss Jimmy's so confident."

What may bemuse the Carter family even more than the "ethnic purity" toe-stubber is the criticism of Jimmy's religious beliefs . . . the Carters find themselves in the curious position of having to defend themselves against concerns that Jimmy is too sincere a Christian. Even as polls show Americans yearning for a return to higher morality and spiritual values, candidate Carter's revelations that he prays often and has lived through what his (Baptist) church terms a "conversion experience" had become a controversial political issue.

"They make so much of this religious business," scoffs his mother,

"I'm extremely proud of Jimmy and Ruth (younger sister Ruth Carter Stapleton is an evangelist). Neither of them is the least bit pious."

"It's not for his mother to defend Jimmy for being good," she says amiably, "but that's the position I'm put in. A National Enquirer reporter came to my house here and stayed around for days, looking for something bad that Jimmy had done as a child. That's just the way he put it: Come on, Mrs. Carter, Jimmy must have done something bad."

"Finally, I told Jimmy. I said 'Jimmy, why didn't you do something stinkin' when you were a boy?' Jimmy just about died laughing and said, 'If I'd known, Mama, I sure would have done something.'"

White-haired Miss Lillian chuckles at the memory of the frustrated reporter, leaving Plains with nothing unsavory to report. Then she says, conspiratorially, "But once Jimmy did play hooky. He went to Americus (population now 16,091) with some friends during his last year in high school, just to look around the city. His daddy punished him, making him stay home for a month. Jimmy couldn't even go to the movies on Saturday afternoon."

"What you people in cities don't understand is that there was not one single thing to tempt a child in the country to do bad. When Jimmy grew up every family went to church — if you didn't go to church, you were nothin' — and all our activities were built around the church. You went to school and to church, you worked in the fields and played basketball and baseball. And there was just NO WAY to be bad."

But her son, she says, never tries to tell other people how to live their lives. He doesn't preach. "Oh, honey, I'm not a Christian like Jimmy and Ruth. I don't go to church every Sunday, and I'm not incapable of telling lies — white lies, if they'll help rather than hurt. I don't see how Jimmy can be completely honest and still be successful in politics — but I think he's doing it. It will surprise me if he doesn't."

Miss Lillian was brought up a Methodist. "We weren't allowed to read novels on Sundays, so I'd hide a dime novel behind a serious book. When there was a dance, the church didn't approve of dancing, but I'd slip (out) anyway. I wasn't as good as Jimmy," she smiles.

"(Billy Carter admits, 'I'm not religious at all. You might say I've never found a religion I believe in.' But he stresses that Jimmy has never even discussed it with him.)"

Mrs. Lillian Carter, who joined the Peace Corps 10 years ago at age 67 and spent three years caring for destitute sick children in Bombay, says that she never had a "personal encounter" with Christ or any experience similar to Jimmy's so-called conversion experience. And Jimmy, she claims, has never described that experience to her or to anyone else. "That's between him and his wife."

Will she worry for her son's safety if he becomes President?

Miss Lillian's smile is as expansive as her son's. "No, dear, I won't. I may not be very religious, but I have faith. I think he's being looked out for by someone else . . . up there."

Vaccine Volunteers Ready For Tests

ATLANTA (AP) — Scientists at the Center for Disease Control say federal employees and Texas prison inmates who will be given the first inoculations of swine flu vaccine starting this week are in no danger of contracting the disease because the vaccine contains a dead virus.

The vaccine was developed to combat an anticipated outbreak of swine flu in the United States this year after the strain surfaced in January at Ft. Dix, N.J.

Scientists suspect that a swine-type flu similar to the anticipated strain may have caused a world-wide epidemic in 1918-19.

Dr. Michael Gregg, director of viral diseases for the Center for Disease Control, said that when a live virus, such as that for immunization against polio, is used in a vaccine, "there is a remote chance" that persons inoculated may show symptoms compatible to the disease.

"But the new swine flu vaccine will be a dead virus," Gregg said in an interview.

To produce a dead virus vaccine, scientists mix the chemical "formalin" with viral particles. These particles react with the chemical, yielding a vaccine that will stimulate the production of protective antibodies in recipients without reproducing the disease.

Officials of the Food and Drug Administration in Washington said the agency has received 24,000 vials of the vaccine in three dosage strengths from four drug companies.

An appropriations bill that President Ford signed Thursday includes $135 million for enough vaccine to immunize the entire population of the United States — about 213 million persons.

Employees of the FDA and the National Institutes of Health have volunteered to be inoculated this week. They will be monitored to determine which of the three dosage strengths is the most effective and has the fewest undesirable side effects, officials said.

Dr. Robert Couch, head of Baylor College of Medicine's Influenza Research Center in Houston, said inoculations will be administered next Sunday to 260 inmates at the Ramsey Unit of the Texas Department of Corrections near Angleton.

The inmates, all volunteers, will be paid $15 each.

Anchor Hocking Earnings Zoom

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Anchor Hocking Corp. earnings in the first quarter of 1976 were up 100 per cent over the same period in 1975, board chairman and chief executive officer John L. Gushman said Monday.

First quarter earnings were a record $7.4 million, or $1.10 per share, based on fewer outstanding shares in 1976. That figure was more than twice the earnings of $3.7 million, or 54 cents per share, during the first quarter of last year.

Gushman noted that the record sales performances extended generally across the board for the company.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, April 20, the 111th day of 1976. There are 255 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1775, the American siege of British forces in Boston began in the American Revolution.

On this date—

In 1657, Jews in New Amsterdam were granted equal rights and privileges of citizens.

In 1662, Connecticut was granted a royal charter extending to the Pacific Ocean.

In 1836, the U.S. Congress established the territory of Wisconsin.

In 1889, Adolf Hitler was born in Austria.

In 1934, Shirley Temple was launched on her career as a child star as the film, "Stand Up and Cheer," was released.

In 1945, in World War II, Soviet forces penetrated the defenses of Berlin, and the U.S. Seventh Army captured the German city of Nuernberg.

Ten years ago: U.S. planes attacking North Vietnam made their closest strikes yet to the key port of Haiphong, bombing a railway bridge.

Five years ago: The U.S. Supreme Court unanimously ruled that busing of students could be ordered to achieve racial desegregation.

One year ago: Communist forces overrunning South Vietnam eased up in their drive toward Saigon but continued to cut off the city from surrounding territory.

Today's birthdays: Former New York Mayor Robert Wagner is 66. Nuclear physicist Alvin Weinberg is 61.

Thought for today: An economist is a man who knows more about money than the people who have it — anonymous.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, Richard Henry Lee wrote to his fellow Virginian, Patrick Henry, that Virginia must take the lead in forming the Continental Congress into a government, and other colonies would follow.

Dear Editor:

Several days ago, I was pleasantly surprised by an Easter treat! Only a person that cannot get out very much and is lonely many times can really understand how I felt.

The treat was from the Friendly Visitors from the Senior Center. And I know that the others that received the Treats feel as I do — grateful!

I want to publicly thank Wanda Hoffman and all the others for their thoughtfulness. God bless them all!

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have felt a small lump in my breast for years. It hasn't grown any larger so I've done nothing about it. Do such lumps have the same meaning in men as they do in women?

Mr. T. G., Ill.

Dear Mr. G.:

Enlargement of the breast and small nodules in the breast occur occasionally in men.

The are never casually overlooked by the physician or the surgeon even though the possibility that such a growth is malignant, or cancerous, is very slight.

In your case, since it has not grown in size or changed in character, it is in all probability benign.

Nevertheless, it should be carefully inspected by your doctor in order to be sure that it presents no special problem.

I'm 18 and I have two impacted wisdom teeth. They don't bother me, but I wonder if eventually they will have to be removed by surgery.

Miss L. L., Calif.

Dear Miss L.:

The presence of impacted teeth does not necessarily mean that surgery is inevitable. Only when these teeth interfere with the normal bite of the teeth or the growth and structure of the jaw do dentists consider surgical removal.

If infection is present, or if the impacted teeth press on nerves and cause pain or difficulty in chewing, then surgery is also advised.

All cases are individually evaluated by dental surgeons. At your age it would be wise to seek an opinion with such a specialist.

My four-year-old daughter has a hernia of the navel. Could this have been caused by improperly tying off the cord when she was born?

Mrs. S. C., Tex.

Dear Mrs. C.:

An umbilical hernia is not related to how the umbilical cord is tied off.

Rather it is due to a slight weakness of the musculature at that site. Many of these hernias disappear without the need of surgery. If they persist and cause annoying symptoms, then surgery is the easiest way to solve this problem.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH . . .

The sensitive hearing mechanism can be injured when bombarded by loud factory noises. There are many protective devices that can preserve good hearing.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — As personal income rises and inflation subsides — although remaining high and threatening to worsen again within the year — the battle for the consumer's dollar resumes.

During the recession this competition receded almost out of sight. Gloom fed on gloom. What good would it do to advertise and promote if the consumer wasn't in a position to buy? And so it went, down into the maelstrom.

There is a more vibrant spirit appearing now, and it is evident on Main Street and Wall Street, in the classified ads, in housing promotions, in vacation plans, in the corporate forecasts for profits.

Although the typical urban family of four now needs $15,500 a year to maintain a moderate standard of living, $1,200 more than a year ago, some families at least have a few dollars to spend on other than necessities.

But underlying these obvious indications of how Americans are spending or planning to spend their money is another stratum of character that never changes. It is restrained, conservative and still concerned with basic security.

Three examples of this trait are provided in these announcements:

—Not since the end of World War II in 1945 have Americans bought more Series E Savings bonds during any three-month period, said the Department of Treasury. The quarter referred to was the first one of 1976.

In that period, total sales of E and H bonds amounted to $1.98 billion. Although redemptions also were high, sales exceeded cash-ins by $214 million, and brought the total outstanding to nearly $69 billion.

George Stinson, chairman of National Steel Corp. and chairman of the U.S. Industrial Payroll Savings Committee, attributes much of the support to bicentennial-related patriotism.

But there seems to be a more basic reason too, a reason involved with financial security. It would seem that people invest for their own financial reasons rather than the over-all good of society.

—Fringe benefits, as they are called, are hardly the fringe of the payroll anymore. Every worker realizes that remuneration in services is as good or even better than being paid in cash.

Dental insurance, says the Conference Board, has now become the fastest-growing employee benefit in U.S. industry. Nineteen per cent of 1,600 companies surveyed have such plans, compared with only half that in 1972.

—Although most workers are covered by Social Security, and many also have pension benefits associated with their place of employment, more and more Americans are taking nothing for granted.

There are many variations in how pension benefits are built, they know, and there are just as many variations in how the money can be distributed.

One of the more popular pension fact booklets available was published recently by the Institute of Life Insurance, 277 Park Ave., New York 10017, and is being offered free — single copies — by writing to that address.

Woman Saved By Fireman

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — A volunteer fireman's knowledge of the Heimlich Maneuver, was credited with saving a Tampa, Fla., woman from choking in a restaurant, Middletown police said.

Police said Mary Lou Belcher began choking while eating a french fried onion Monday.

James Cottongim, a volunteer fireman with the North Madison Emergency Squad, was also lunching in the restaurant.

Cottongim said he had recently been instructed in the antichoking maneuver and performed it on the victim expelling the food.

The method, developed by Dr. Henry Heimlich, Cincinnati, is performed by placing the arms around the waist of the victim, locking the hands and giving a quick jerk to the abdomen. Air is forced out of the lungs forcing the blockage out of the throat.

Girl Succumbs On 6th Birthday

CAREY, Ohio (AP) — Sherry Reinhart died Sunday on her sixth birthday of injuries she sustained when she was caught in a fire in a barn last week.

The girl was pulled from the burning barn by her mother after a brother spotted the fire.

Built in 1803, Fort Dearborn developed into the city of Chicago.

That's just the way he put it: Come on, Mrs. Carter, Jimmy must have done something bad."

"Finally, I told Jimmy. I said 'Jimmy, why didn't you do something stinkin' when you were a boy?' Jimmy just about died laughing and said, 'If I'd known, Mama, I sure would have done something.'"

White-haired Miss Lillian chuckles at the memory of the frustrated reporter, leaving Plains with nothing unsavory to report. Then she says, conspiratorially, "But once Jimmy did play hooky. He went to Americus (population now 16,091) with some friends during his last year in high school, just to look around the city. His daddy punished him, making him stay home for a month. Jimmy couldn't even go to the movies on Saturday afternoon."

"What you people in cities don't understand is that there was not one single thing to tempt a child in the country to do bad. When Jimmy grew up every family went to church — if you didn't go to church, you were nothin' — and all our activities were built around the church. You went to school and to Church, you worked in the fields and played basketball and baseball. And there was just NO WAY

Vaccine Volunteers Ready For Tests

ATLANTA (AP) — Scientists at the Center for Disease Control say federal employees and Texas prison inmates who will be given the first inoculations of swine flu vaccine starting this week are in no danger of contracting the disease because the vaccine contains a dead virus.

The vaccine was developed to combat an anticipated outbreak of swine flu in the United States this year after the strain surfaced in January at Ft. Dix, N.J.

Scientists suspect that a swine-type flu similar to the anticipated strain may have caused a world-wide epidemic in 1918-19.

Dr. Michael Gregg, director of viral diseases for the Center for Disease Control, said that when a live virus, such as that for immunization against polio, is used in a vaccine, "there is a remote chance" that persons inoculated may show symptoms compatible to the disease.

"But the new swine flu vaccine will be a dead virus," Gregg said in an interview.

To produce a dead virus vaccine, scientists mix the chemical "formalin" with viral particles. These particles react with the chemical, yielding a vaccine that will stimulate the production of protective antibodies in recipients without reproducing the disease.

Officials of the Food and Drug Administration in Washington said the agency has received 24,000 vials of the vaccine in three dosage strengths from four drug companies.

An appropriations bill that President Ford signed Thursday includes $135 million for enough vaccine to immunize the entire population of the United States — about 213 million persons.

Employees of the FDA and the National Institutes of Health have volunteered to be inoculated this week. They will be monitored to determine which of the three dosage strengths is the most effective and has the fewest undesirable side effects, officials said.

Dr. Robert Couch, head of Baylor College of Medicine's Influenza Research Center in Houston, said inoculations will be administered next Sunday to 260 inmates at the Ramsey Unit of the Texas Department of Corrections near Angleton.

The inmates, all volunteers, will be paid $15 each.

Anchor Hocking Earnings Zoom

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Anchor Hocking Corp. earnings in the first quarter of 1976 were up 100 per cent over the same period in 1975, board chairman and chief executive officer John L. Gushman said Monday.

First quarter earnings were a record $7.4 million, or $1.10 per share, based on fewer outstanding shares in 1976. That figure was more than twice the earnings of $3.7 million, or 54 cents per share, during the first quarter of last year.

Gushman noted that the record sales performances extended generally across the board for the company.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, April 20, the 111th day of 1976. There are 255 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1775, the American siege of British forces in Boston began in the American Revolution.

On this date—

In 1657, Jews in New Amsterdam were granted equal rights and privileges of citizens.

In 1662, Connecticut was granted a royal charter extending to the Pacific Ocean.

In 1836, the U.S. Congress established the territory of Wisconsin.

In 1889, Adolf Hitler was born in Austria.

In 1934, Shirley Temple was launched on her career as a child star as the film, "Stand Up and Cheer," was released.

In 1945, in World War II, Soviet forces penetrated the defenses of Berlin, and the U.S. Seventh Army captured the German city of Nuernberg.

Ten years ago: U.S. planes attacking North Vietnam made their closest strikes yet to the key port of Haiphong, bombing a railway bridge.

Five years ago: The U.S. Supreme Court unanimously ruled that busing of students could be ordered to achieve racial desegregation.

One year ago: Communist forces overrunning South Vietnam eased up in their drive toward Saigon but continued to cut off the city from surrounding territory.

Today's birthdays: Former New York Mayor Robert Wagner is 66. Nuclear physicist Alvin Weinberg is 61.

Thought for today: An economist is a man who knows more about money than the people who have it — anonymous.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, Richard Henry Lee wrote to his fellow Virginian, Patrick Henry, that Virginia must take the lead in forming the Continental Congress into a government, and other colonies would follow.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

Several days ago, I was pleasantly surprised by an Easter treat! Only a person that cannot get out very much and is lonely many times can really understand how I felt.

The treat was from the Friendly Visitors from the Senior Center. And I know that the others that received the Treats feel as I do — grateful!

I want to publicly thank Wanda Hoffman and all the others for their thoughtfulness. God bless them all!

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have felt a small lump in my breast for years. It hasn't grown any larger so I've done nothing about it. Do such lumps have the same meaning in men as they do in women?

Mr. T. G., Ill.

Dear Mr. G.:

Enlargement of the breast and small nodules in the breast occur occasionally in men.

The are never casually overlooked by the physician or the surgeon even though the possibility that such a growth is malignant, or cancerous, is very slight.

In your case, since it has not grown in size or changed in character, it is in all probability benign.

Nevertheless, it should be carefully inspected by your doctor in order to be sure that it presents no special problem.

I'm 18 and I have two impacted wisdom teeth. They don't bother me, but I wonder if eventually they will have to be removed by surgery.

Miss L. L., Calif.

Dear Miss L.:

The presence of impacted teeth does not necessarily mean that surgery is inevitable. Only when these teeth interfere with the normal bite of the teeth or the growth and structure of the jaw do dentists consider surgical removal.

If infection is present, or if the impacted teeth press on nerves and cause pain or difficulty in chewing, then surgery is also advised.

All cases are individually evaluated by dental surgeons. At your age it would be wise to seek an opinion with such a specialist.

My four-year-old daughter has a hernia of the navel. Could this have been caused by improperly tying off the cord when she was born?

Mrs. S. C., Tex.

Dear Mrs. C.:

An umbilical hernia is not related to how the umbilical cord is tied off.

Rather it is due to a slight weakness of the musculature at that site. Many of these hernias disappear without the need of surgery. If they persist and cause annoying symptoms, then surgery is the easiest way to solve this problem.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH . . .

The sensitive hearing mechanism can be injured when bombarded by loud factory noises. There are many protective devices that can preserve good hearing.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — As personal income rises and inflation subsides — although remaining high and threatening to worsen again within the year — the battle for the consumer's dollar resumes.

During the recession this competition receded almost out of sight. Gloom fed on gloom. What good would it do to advertise and promote if the consumer wasn't in a position to buy? And so it went, down into the maelstrom.

There is a more vibrant spirit appearing now, and it is evident on Main Street and Wall Street, in the classified ads, in housing promotions, in vacation plans, in the corporate forecasts for profits.

Although the typical urban family of four now needs $15,500 a year to maintain a moderate standard of living, $1,200 more than a year ago, some families at least have a few dollars to spend on other than necessities.

But underlying these obvious indications of how Americans are spending or planning to spend their money is another stratum of character that never changes. It is restrained, conservative and still concerned with basic security.

Three examples of this trait are provided in these announcements:

—Not since the end of World War II in 1945 have Americans bought more Series E Savings bonds during any three-month period, said the Department of Treasury. The quarter referred to was the first one of 1976.

In that period, total sales of E and H bonds amounted to $1.98 billion. Although redemptions also were high, sales exceeded cash-ins by $214 million, and brought the total outstanding to nearly $69 billion.

George Stinson, chairman of National Steel Corp. and chairman of the U.S. Industrial Payroll Savings Committee, attributes much of the support to bicentennial-related patriotism.

But there seems to be a more basic reason too, a reason involved with financial security. It would seem that people invest for their own financial reasons rather than the over-all good of society.

—Fringe benefits, as they are called, are hardly the fringe of the payroll anymore. Every worker realizes that remuneration in services is as good or even better than being paid in cash.

Dental insurance, says the Conference Board, has now become the fastest-growing employee benefit in U.S. industry. Nineteen per cent of 1,600 companies surveyed have such plans, compared with only half that in 1972.

—Although most workers are covered by Social Security, and many also have pension benefits associated with their place of employment, more and more Americans are taking nothing for granted.

There are many variations in how pension benefits are built, they know, and there are just as many variations in how the money can be distributed.

One of the more popular pension fact booklets available was published recently by the Institute of Life Insurance, 277 Park Ave., New York 10017, and is being offered free — single copies — by writing to that address.

Woman Saved By Fireman

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — A volunteer fireman's knowledge of the Heimlich Maneuver, was credited with saving a Tampa, Fla., woman from choking in a restaurant, Middletown police said.

Police said Mary Lou Belcher began choking while eating a french fried onion Monday.

James Cottongim, a volunteer fireman with the North Madison Emergency Squad, was also lunching in the restaurant.

Cottongim said he had recently been instructed in the antichoking maneuver and performed it on the victim expelling the food.

The method, developed by Dr. Henry Heimlich, Cincinnati, is performed by placing the arms around the waist of the victim, locking the hands and giving a quick jerk to the abdomen. Air is forced out of the lungs forcing the blockage out of the throat.

Girl Succumbs On 6th Birthday

CAREY, Ohio (AP) — Sherry Reinhart died Sunday on her sixth birthday of injuries she sustained when she was caught in a fire in a barn last week.

The girl was pulled from the burning barn by her mother after a brother spotted the fire.

Built in 1803, Fort Dearborn developed into the city of Chicago.

Juvenile Court Hears Many Traffic Cases

Several youthful traffic offenders appeared this past week before Judge Guy G. Cline in Pickaway County Juvenile Court.

The court also heard two delinquency cases against a 15-year-old and a 14-year-old Circleville boys. City schools superintendent Fritz Jacobs filed the affidavits against the youths charging them with grand theft of $494.85 worth of audio visual equipment.

Judge Cline heard the case and suspended an original sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission in each case and placed each of the boys on probation for three years. He also ordered the two to complete 50 hours of community work, to seek counseling and not to associate with each other.

A 14-year-old Circleville girl was placed in the permanent care of the Ohio Youth Commission for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. She was also charged in juvenile court with violation of probation.

The court then placed a 12-year-old girl in the care of the Pickaway County Children's Services for being incorrigible. She was also placed on probation for three years.

Timothy Scott Ritchie, 17, 2036 Bolender Pontious Road, appeared for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. He was fined $50, had his license suspended for six months and was ordered to attend traffic school. The court restored his driving privileges for driving to school, work and traffic school only during the suspension.

Another girl was placed in the permanent care of the Youth Commission during the week, a 14-year-old Route 3, Mt. Sterling youth. She was convicted of complicity and running away.

Richard Clements, 17, 904 S. Scioto St., appeared on a charge of driving an unsafe vehicle. The court fined him $10 and ordered him to attend traffic school. The court also heard a case against David L. Buckler, 17, Lockbourne, for driving an unsafe vehicle. He received a $10 fine with $5 suspended and had his license suspended for one month.

An Ashville boy, 16-year-old Jon C. Fausnaugh, appeared before Judge Cline for driving left of center. He was fined $10 with $5 suspended and had his license suspended for one month.

Pete Winegardner, Tarlton, and Dusty Seaton, Route 1, Stoutsville, both adults, were found not guilty during the week of contributing to the unruliness of minors.

Another adult appearing in juvenile court last week was Tony Tonelli, 44, Columbus, who was charged with removing a child from a foster home without permission of the Pickaway County Children's Services. He was given a six-month jail sentence with five months suspended and placed on probation for 18 months.

Prayer Beans Fatal

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Beautiful but deadly prayer beans killed a 25-year-old Miami man who apparently drank them in a poisonous cocktail as part of a religious experience "for reasons relating to the full moon," official reports say.

Doctors said Sunday that Kevin Frey died five days after quaffing the drink for which there is no antidote.

About 20 of the shiny red beans were put in a blender with some water and graphite from a pencil, and Frey consumed the liquid, police said. He became ill and vomited and was later taken to the hospital, where he told hospital officials, "I've walked into a black triangle." Frey died late Friday.

"One bean is lethal," said Dr. Ronald Wright, Dade County deputy chief medical examiner. "It's one of the most deadly poisons known to man, a favorite tool of assassins. One six-thousandths of an ounce is fatal to an adult."

Officials did not explain further why Frey used the beans as part of a religious experience.

The beans grow on plants that flourish wild here and are often used as ornamental shrubs. Hard-surfaced and slightly egg-shaped, the bright red beans are a quarter-inch in diameter with one black spot on them when fully ripe.

The deadly beans surfaced in a 1968 nationwide scare after a chain store imported a stock of decorative pins made from the beans. An urgent recall took place.

NOTICE
The Ohio Bureau of Employment Services announced that effective April 3, 1976, the Federal Supplemental Benefits (FSB) and Additional Federal Supplemental Benefits (AFSB) which extended potential unemployment compensation payments beyond 39 weeks to as many as 65, must be discontinued as required by federal statute.
The Emergency Jobs and Unemployment Assistance Act of 1974 was amended to set up "on and off" trigger mechanisms for the federal supplemental benefits programs, effective January 1, 1976. When this trigger rate of insured unemployment in a state falls below a five percent average for a 13 consecutive week period, the FSB program must thereafter be discontinued, except for a 13-week phase-out period, during which FSB benefits can continue to be paid.
Ohio has been below the five percent trigger rate since January 1, 1976. The 13-week phase-out period ended April 3 and Federal Extended Benefits can not be paid beyond that date, unless the federally prescribed trigger rate of insured unemployment climbs to five per cent or higher.

Senate Panel Leaks Hit By Huddleston

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — U.S. Sen. Walter Huddleston, D-Ky., said the Senate Select Committee On Intelligence Activities will call for an independent oversight committee and for sanctions, including expulsion, against those Senators who might leak information.

Huddleston, a member of the committee and a subcommittee chairman, told a Monday news conference that an independent regulatory committee on intelligence faces an uncertain future because of objections from several committees who do not want to give up their controls of intelligence organizations.

"There is a great deal of jealousy about surrendering jurisdiction," Huddleston said. "We are having trouble because the various committees don't want to surrender their power."

Huddleston urged that this independent committee not be considered like an ordinary regulatory agency.

"It's not a committee to do an ordinary job. Intelligence is a different thing entirely. It's a whole different type of animal," he said.

Huddleston said the intelligence committee will release a report in a week or so which also contains an endorsement of a plan which would place sanctions on those Senators who leak classified material.

These sanctions could range from expulsion from a committee to expulsion from the Senate, and a staff member could also be expelled for leaking information, Huddleston said.

However, Congress would be able to apply sanctions once a newsman received the information.

He said there will be a large section dealing with covert operations, some of which will be classified, Huddleston said. He estimated that only a small portion of the report will be kept from the public, however.

"We've tried to avoid blocking publication of the report. Only a very small portion of it has been classified," he said.

"The CIA is not going to be pleased or happy to see its abuses in front of the public. We recognize that there is going to be some embarrassment, but also there should be a great benefit," Huddleston said.

Gem Society Conclave Attended By Local Jewelers

The American Gem Society's international conclave in Boston, Mass., April 10 through April 13, was attended by William McClellan, registered jeweler, and Mrs. Joe Bell of L. M. Butch Co.

The conclave is the annual gathering of more than 1,000 jewelers and their families to sharpen their gemological skills in a series of workshops and to hear from world-renown experts about the latest developments in their field.

The American Gem Society, a professional association of more than 3000 jewelers and retail stores in the United States and Canada, conducted tours by its members to historic sites in and around Boston, in addition to the working sessions. Jewelers visited Lexington, Concord, Old North Church, Granary Burying Ground, Beacon Hill, Gloucester, Harvard and other points of interest.

The American Gem Society is a non-profit organization of jewelers, educators and scholars, founded in 1934 and pledged to the vigilant protection of the buying public, adherence to ethical business standards and practices, and development of highest gemological skills and knowledge.

Big Bear Co. Sale Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Big Bear Stores Co., a food chain, will be sold to a diversified investment company and others, an executive with Big Bear said Monday.

The purchase group of Oppenheimer & Co. of New York and Columbus businessmen will pay the $41.4 million for common shares held by stockholders, said Michael Knilans, executive vice president.

The transaction remains subject to approval by the Securities & Exchange Commission.

Big Bear, with 5,000 employees, has a chain of 53 food stores, 12 Hart's department stores and owns Buckeye Trading Stamps company.

Knilans said shareholders will have an option to sell their stock at $33 a share or trade for shares in an investment company being formed.

Walter Craig OSU Ombudsman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University President Harold L. Enarson will recommend that trustees appoint Walter C. Craig as the next university ombudsman.

University officials said Craig, an associate professor of photography and cinema and a seven-year member of the faculty, will succeed Mrs. Joanne Wharton Murphy.

"Professor Craig brings a broad understanding of the university community to his new position and has demonstrated the skills needed to help individual students and faculty members resolve problems," said Enarson.

The post of ombudsman was created at Ohio State six years ago. The office attempts to resolve grievances of members of the university community and also recommends changes in university procedures.

Small was never this wide.

As you can see by the diagram on the right, our Pacer is extraordinarily wide. At 77 inches, it's wider than the Vega, the Maverick, or the Datsun B210. In fact, no other small car is as wide as the Pacer. Which means you get lots of shoulder, hip and leg room. So you wind up with an unusual amount of driving comfort. And since it's wider — and also has a unique isolated suspension system — the Pacer gives you an incredibly smooth and stable ride.

The Pacer also comes with AMC's economical 6-cylinder engine and a big 22-gallon gas tank. So you not only get outstanding performance, you also go a long way on a tank of gas.

Overall width comparison: Pacer 77.0" Maverick 70.5" Vega 65.4" Datsun B210 60.8"

Senate Panel Leaks Hit By Huddleston

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — U.S. Sen. Walter Huddleston, D-Ky., said the Senate Select Committee On Intelligence Activities will call for an independent oversight committee and for sanctions, including expulsion, against those Senators who might leak information.

Huddleston, a member of the committee and a subcommittee chairman, told a Monday news conference that an independent regulatory committee on intelligence faces an uncertain future because of objections from several committees who do not want to give up their controls of intelligence organizations.

"There is a great deal of jealousy about surrendering jurisdiction," Huddleston said. "We are having trouble because the various committees don't want to surrender their power."

Huddleston urged that this independent committee not be considered like an ordinary regulatory agency.

"It's not a committee to do an ordinary job. Intelligence is a different thing entirely. It's a whole different type of animal," he said.

Huddleston said the intelligence committee will release a report in a week or so which also contains an endorsement of a plan which would place sanctions on those Senators who leak classified material.

These sanctions could range from expulsion from a committee to expulsion from the Senate, and a staff member could also be expelled for leaking information, Huddleston said.

However, Congress would be able to apply sanctions once a newsman received the information.

He said there will be a large section dealing with covert operations, some of which will be classified, Huddleston said. He estimated that only a small portion of the report will be kept from the public, however.

"We've tried to avoid blocking publication of the report. Only a very small portion of it has been classified," he said.

"The CIA is not going to be pleased or happy to see its abuses in front of the public. We recognize that there is going to be some embarrassment, but also there should be a great benefit," Huddleston said.

Gem Society Conclave Attended By Local Jewelers

The American Gem Society's international conclave in Boston, Mass., April 10 through April 13 was attended by William McClellan, registered jeweler, and Mrs. Joe Bell of L. M. Butch Co.

The conclave is the annual gathering of more than 1,000 jewelers and their families to sharpen their gemological skills in a series of workshops and to hear from world-renown experts about the latest developments in their field.

The American Gem Society, a professional association of more than 3000 jewelers and retail stores in the United States and Canada, conducted tours by its members to historic sites in and around Boston, in addition to the working sessions. Jewelers visited Lexington, Concord, Old North Church, Granary Burying Ground, Beacon Hill, Gloucester, Harvard and other points of interest.

The American Gem Society is a non-profit organization of jewelers, educators and scholars, founded in 1934 and pledged to the vigilant protection of the buying public, adherence to ethical business standards and practices, and development of highest gemological skills and knowledge.

Big Bear Co. Sale Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Big Bear Stores Co., a food chain, will be sold to a diversified investment company and others, an executive with Big Bear said Monday.

The purchase group of Oppenheimer & Co. of New York and Columbus businessmen will pay the $41.4 million for common shares held by stockholders, said Michael Knilans, executive vice president.

The transaction remains subject to approval by the Securities & Exchange Commission.

Big Bear, with 5,000 employees, has a chain of 53 food stores, 12 Hart's department stores and owns Buckeye Trading Stamps company.

Knilans said shareholders will have an option to sell their stock at $33 a share or trade for shares in an investment company being formed.

Walter Craig OSU Ombudsman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University President Harold L. Enarson will recommend that trustees appoint Walter C. Craig as the next university ombudsman.

University officials said Craig, an associate professor of photography and cinema and a seven-year member of the faculty, will succeed Mrs. Joanne Wharton Murphy.

"Professor Craig brings a broad understanding of the university community to his new position and has demonstrated the skills needed to help individual students and faculty members resolve problems," said Enarson.

The post of ombudsman was created at Ohio State six years ago. The office attempts to resolve grievances of members of the university community and also recommends changes in university procedures.

Small was never this wide.

As you can see by the diagram on the right, our Pacer is extraordinarily wide. At 77 inches, it's wider than the Vega, the Maverick, or the Datsun B210. In fact, no other small car is as wide as the Pacer. Which means you get lots of shoulder, hip and leg room. So you wind up with an unusual amount of driving comfort. And since it's wider, and also has a unique isolated suspension system — the Pacer gives you an incredibly smooth and stable ride.

The Pacer also comes with AMC's economical 6-cylinder engine and a big 22-gallon gas tank. So you not only get outstanding performance, you also go a long way on a tank of gas.

Overall width comparison: Pacer 77.0" Maverick 70.5" Vega 65.4" Datsun B210 60.8"

The AMC Pacer, the first wide small car, is also covered by the wide coverage THE AMC BUYER PROTECTION PLAN.* At American Motors, we do small things in a wide way.

AMC BUYER PROTECTION PLAN

The Circleville Herald, Tuesday April 20, 1976

Miss Stephanie Ann Neff, Dennis Karshner Are Wed

MR. AND MRS. DENNIS KARSHNER

The wedding of Miss Stephanie Ann Neff and Mr. Dennis Karshner took place 6:30 p.m., March 20, in Trinity Lutheran Church in Circleville. The altar was adorned with vases of white gladioli and baby's breath.

Pastor Carl G. Zehner officiated the double ring service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Neff, Route 2, Circleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Overman, Route 1, Kingston. Mrs. Edith Downing, organist, and Mr. Roger Allen, vocalist, presented a program of music preceding the ceremony. Included in selections were "Sabbath Prayer," "You'll Never Walk Alone," "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected for her wedding day a formal length gown of white organza. The bodice featured a sheer yoke and capelet sleeves edged in Venice lace and pink ribbon which also encircled the high neckline, drifted over the bodice and trailed around the full skirt flowing gracefully into a chapel train. The bride's lace edged veil of illusion fell softly from a Venice lace and pearl trimmed caplet. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and blue mums, and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Miss Mary Neff, sister of the bride. She was attired in a full length blue petipoint gown in the empire silhouette style. Ribbon trimmed the high neckline and capelet sleeves.

Roundtown CB Club Meets At Senior Center

Roundtown Citizen Band Club held its April meeting recently at the Senior Citizens' building, Lancaster Pike.

Following a carry-in dinner, discussion was held on a bake sale and the family picnic to be on August 9, at Shelter House 1, Ted Lewis Park.

Prizes for the evening were won by Carolyn Davis, Opal Barnhart, Yvonne Adams, Erna Illes and Mildred Davis. The door prize was awarded to Opal Barnhart. Others present were Marvene Young, Pauline Davis, and a guest, Patty Renkel.

The next meeting will be held May 10 at the same location with refreshments served by Mildred and Pauline Davis.

Easter Egg Hunt Held By Ladies Of Dresbach Church

Ladies of Dresbach United Methodist Church participated in an Easter egg hunt during the recent meeting held in the church. The thought for the day was "our homes would be a lot better if we thought more about stainless hearts than stainless kitchens." Mrs. Mae Noble was in charge of devotions. Members sang "He Lives," repeated "The Lord's Prayer" and sang "He Arose Triumphant."

Mrs. Sue Valentine presided at the business session. Members have been selling ink pens and homemade noodles and now had added vanilla to the project to earn money for shrubbery, window shutters and carpeting for the church. For information of these items interested persons may call 474-7634 or 474-7190.

Mrs. Donna Peters presented the program with two poems, "The Three In One" and "I Wonder." The ladies then had their egg hunt in the church and a parade of their homemade Easter Bonnets, and played games. The meeting was closed with members repeating the mizpah. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mae Noble and Mrs. Donna Peters.

Child Study League To Participate In Bicentennial

Ashville Child Study League met recently at the home of Sandy Hedrick in Little Walnut. The Rev. John Currens of Ashville showed slides of the Holy Land.

The club voted to have a booth at the Bicentennial Celebration on June 5 and 6 at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds. Members will be selling homemade yeast rolls, breads and canned goods.

In other business, the club elected Bonnie Remy as secretary for the 1976-77 club year, and voted to give a donation to the Easter Seal Society. Members also decided to have a booth at the Pumpkin Show this coming year.

A report on the Spring Conference was given. Those attending it presented the club with a certificate from the conference in appreciation of a contribution made to the Scholarship Loan Fund. The contribution was given in the club's name by the past district president, Bonnie Remy.

Two guests, Sandy Clark and Bev Six, were present for the meeting. Refreshments were served by hostesses, Sandy Hedrick and Doloris Smith.

The next meeting will be a banquet and installation of officers on May 11.

Bridge Club Meets At YMCA

The "Welcome to Duplicate" series met Wednesday evening at the YMCA. The topic of the discussion led by Dieter Droste, director of the game, was "Overcalls versus take-out doubles and their responses."

Winners of the four table game were: 1. George and Eileen Huskey, 2. Charles Mowery and Willis Liston, 3. Joe and Eloise Walker. Kay Sahr provided the refreshments.

The next regular novice game will be held May 12.

Dresbach Church Youth Fellowship To Provide Sign

Youth Fellowship of Dresbach United Methodist Church met recently at the church to discuss the first project undertaken by the newly formed organization.

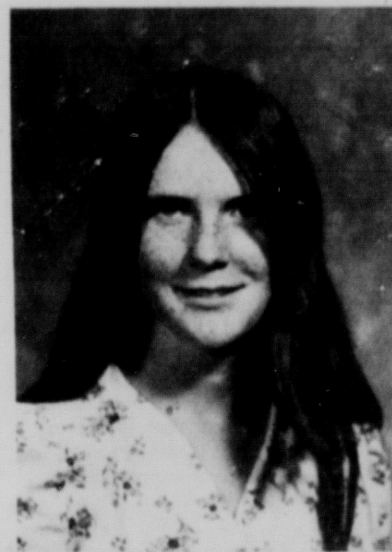

Roll call was answered with dues paid to Brenda Johnson, who also led the devotions.

Duane Valentine presided over the business session when members agreed their first project would be to design and to make a sign for the church. To fund the project they have planned a bake sale for the near future.

After the meeting was closed with members repeating "The Lord's Prayer," games were played and refreshments served.

The next meeting will be held 7:30 p.m., May 19, at the church.

One big reason gas bills have been going up is the steady increase in operating costs — getting the gas to you.

In just four years, from 1971 to 1975, Columbia's operating costs have increased by nearly 475 million dollars.

Without adding any new customers or increasing sales.

(MILLIONS OF DOLLARS)	1975	1971	INCREASE AMOUNT	PERCENT
Cost of Purchased Gas	$ 693.7	$401.5	$292.2	73%
Depreciation and Depletion	131.8	83.5	48.3	58
Taxes	171.8	109.7	62.1	57
Other Operation and Maintenance	262.3	190.1	72.2	38
Interest Charges	106.4	68.7	37.7	55
Total Operating Costs	$1366.0	$853.5	$512.5	60%

These increases alone add up to nearly five times Columbia's average annual net income for the same period. No company can absorb increases of this size without raising prices.

J. E. Peters Inc. Emphasizes Complete Paint Job

THIS pounced ceiling at Calvary United Methodist Church was applied by J. E. Peters Inc. as a part of a complete interior decoration project. All the woodwork was stripped and refinished.

J. E. Peters Inc., commercial, industrial and residential painting contractors, emphasizes the "complete" approach from surface preparation to proper selection and application of paints and colors to cleaning up after the job is completed. And the job is never completed until the customer is satisfied.

Among the more recently completed painting and refinishing projects that the firm is proud of was done at Calvary United Methodist Church, Washington and Mill Streets.

With suggestions from J. E. Peters that were approved by the Rev. Roy Osborn and the Church Council a pounced (textured) surface was applied to the ceilings to cover the very rough and uneven plaster.

All of the woodwork and the oak pews were stripped of the old finish and restained a matching shade. Some doors were removed, one wall of the church was re-drywalled and a new doorway was framed to match the original woodwork of the church interior.

The walls were painted an almond color selected by the color committee of the church. New carpet was installed by a local firm to complete the redecoration and beautification of the interior of the church.

J. E. Peters, manager of the company, estimates that a complete painting job that includes proper surface preparation will last twice as long as the average "do-it-yourself" job, more than justifying the cost for the skilled labor, experience and technical knowledge.

"J. E. Peters Inc. can solve your next paint problem — be it industrial, commercial or residential. From a high water tank to a finely decorated church, from a home to barns or barn roofs, all will be handled the right way — each handled a different way," Peters says.

A reputation is worth everything in business, the painting firm believes. "We stand behind our work and won't leave a job until it's finished to everyone's satisfaction. We are completely insured for our clients protection. Our staff has both

Logan Elm School News

Junior Class Play Is 'Gaslight Girl'

This year's junior class play is "Gaslight Girl," written by John Jakes. Some of the characters include the virtuous heroine, Mary, (Cheryl Throckmorton), the despicable villain Cadbury, (Rick Payne), and the handsome hero too good to be true, (Randy Watkins).

Mary and her best friend, Bess, played by Sherrie Grate, and other friends walked out of their jobs because of abuse by their boss Grimshaw, played by Eric Maxson.

Helpless and alone without a job, Mary and Bess meet up with all kinds of characters, from the dancing newsboy, Kyle Jones, to the hero, Randy Watkins.

A few other characters include Milo the helpless drunk, played by John Scanlan, and the cruel villain, Rick Payne and his chums.

The plot revolves around the mysterious disappearance of the Aspinwall diamond and its recovering and the slow, unfolding of the mystery.

Some highlights of the play are the ballroom scene and its dancers and also the disgracing bar room scene with the loose lady dancers. The chorus will also add more tune to the play, and the soloists will sing their way into your hearts.

The whole production is a 19th century melodrama combined with a 20th century musical comedy, with plenty of hissing and booing from the audience.

The plot of love will touch the viewers' hearts, and the fools will laugh their way into everyone's heart.

With a total of 49 characters, the play will be performed on May 7 and 8 at 8 p.m. in the McDowell Auditorium. Miss Twana Moats is the director.

NHS Holds Tapping

By BARB BOLENDER

With a very impressive ceremony, the Logan Elm chapter of the National Honor Society inducted 42 new members on March 15. To be eligible for membership, junior and senior students must maintain a 3.25 grade point average and show outstanding qualities of character, leadership, service, and scholarship, the four principles of NHS.

The ceremony was attended by all the LE students, parents of the tapped members faculty and special guests, which included honorary NHS members, H. A. Strous, George McDowell, and Oakley Leist.

On March 24, both old and new members attended a banquet and ceremony at Westfall High School where the new members were initiated into the County National Honor Society. County officers were elected, and the offices were filled by Logan Elm students as follows: president, John Scanlan; vice president, Cathy Watson; secretary, Ann Congrove; chaplain, Nancy Myers; and sergeant-at-arms, Chris Blubaugh.

The new NHS members include Cindy Wharton, Leah Baum, Linda Morgan, Sheila Slonecker, Bret Adams, Chuck Cave, Karen Gifford, Dennis Johnston, Nancy Myers, Marcy Hutchinson, Randy Pontius, Cathy Watson, Patty Rhoades, Allen Strous, John Scanlan, Ann Congrove, Rose Hoffman, Jodi DeLong, Vicki Hunt, Joyce Fogler, Kathy Ratcliff, Scott Turvey, Debbie Betz, Tammy Valentine, Starla Van Curen, Pam Adams, Chris Blubaugh, Karen Hunt, Kevin Kerns, Bill Leist, Belinda Seimer, Randy Watkins, Becky Mundy, Pam Swackhammer, Thorndike Barnhart, Donna Hupp, Cheryl Throckmorton, Norma Faulkner, Peggy Wilson, Susan Barnett, Kevelyn Maxson, and Heidi Riddle.

Girls Track Team Ready For Season

By DEBBIE LECKRONE

This year's girls' track team is coached by head coach Christy Owens. This is her first year as the coach. The girls have been practicing for some time now and are ready for stiff competition.

There are 28 girls on the team covering events such as 100 yard dash; 220, 440, and 880 runs; the mile run; high jump; long jump; shot put; discus; and the relays.

This year's seniors are Gina Henn and Shelley Swank. The whole team looks forward to many victories. Following is the complete schedule:

April 22 — Liberty Union and Fisher Catholic at Liberty Union 4:30
April 27 — Amanda and Berne Union at Logan Elm 4:30
April 28 — Adena Invitational at Adena 4:30
May 1 — Licking Heights Invitational at Licking Heights noon
May 3 — Circleville and Hillsboro at Circleville 4:30
May 11 Canal Winchester and New Albany at Canal Winchester 4:30
May 12 — Westfall and Southwestern at Westfall 4:30
May 19 — Fairfield Union at Logan Elm 4:15
May 20 — Sectionals at Upper Arlington

Sophomores Build Time Capsule

By WAYNE LINTHICUM

Nick Damopolous's Sophomore English class is currently constructing a time capsule — not the type of imaginary trips a person first thinks of in association with a time capsule, but the type where articles of importance are enclosed in a fiberglass-like container sealed air tight. Then in 25 years of the year 2001, the time capsule will be opened to see how much change has taken place. The time capsule is to be buried beside the flag pole in front of the high school.

Things that will be put in this capsule include a yearbook, dress styles, names of the mayor of Circleville and the LE principal, organizations' members at the high school, and other things that the next few generations may look back at the way that we look at articles of 25 years ago. We would like to wish the sophomore English class a lot of luck and may we see it all again in 2001!

BOE Students To Go For Office Training

Mrs. Amber Bigam's 37 business and office education students are preparing themselves for their three-week on-the-job work experience, which will officially begin on April 26.

This program, initiated by Mrs. Bigam and the Logan Elm Principal Dow West seven years ago, allows the secretarial students to be placed in business offices for three weeks during their regular three-hour classroom block of time.

The 18 senior girls will be working from 8:30-11:00 a.m. and the 19 Junior students will be working from 12:30-3:00 p.m. daily during the three weeks. The girls are evaluated by their respective employers on their office skills, attitude on the job, etc. They are also visited while on the job one time by Mrs. Bigam.

During the three weeks, each student is expected to keep a diary of her office activities and to observe and learn as much about her particular office as she can so that she may prepare herself better for her future career.

The following participating business offices located in Circleville, Laurelville, and Kingston, are to be thanked for their cooperation in making this program a success: Pickaway County Probate Court, PPG Industries, Inc., Lowe's of Circleville, Pickaway Manor, The Circleville Herald, Pickaway County Clerk of Courts, Cooperative Extension Service, Pickaway County Treasurer, Harold Mundy Pontiac, Circleville Manor Nursing Home, Laurelville School, Pickaway County Superintendent of Schools, Owens-Ilinois, Inc., Community United Methodist Church, Pickaway County Common Pleas Court, American Red Cross, Ralston Purina, PICCA, First National Bank of Kingston, Veteran's Service Office, Farm Bureau, WNRE Radio, ASCS Office, Pickaway County Welfare Department, Sharff's Fashions, and the Logan Elm High School Office.

The business department and the individual students enrolled in business and office education have found this to be a very rewarding three-week experience in past years. There is nothing like practical experience to find out if one is headed in the right direction.

Girls Softball Team Looks Toward Mid-State Crown

By JEFF REICHELDERFER

With eight returning starters coming back from a 5-4 year, Logan Elm will be a top contender for the Mid-State League girls' softball crown. This is the second year for organized league play. According to Coach Kathy Thompson, the girls from Millersport, last year's league champion, and Fisher Catholic, the second place team, will be the top contenders for the league crown along with her own girls.

A strong group of young sophomores make up the nucleus of the team. The returners are Annette Roof, Diane Martin, Beth Bell, Joyce Pine, Debbie Betz, Khrista Gifford, Tina Woods, and Monica Payne. For the first time in Ohio High School history, there will be a girls' state softball tournament. Also, a first this year will be the selection of an All Mid-State Girls' Team. This should add extra incentive for everyone with such great goals to be sought.

Coach Thompson has now scheduled nine games for her "Logan Elm Ten," not including the State Tournament games. She stated that because of the high number of candidates for the squad, a cut was necessary this year. She also said that the strong sophomore unit at Logan Elm made it very tough for incoming freshmen to make the team.

With the tough opening games on the schedule, Coach Thompson has set up three scrimmages with Greenfield McClain, Washington Court House, and Grove City.

A new addition to the Logan Elm girls' program this year is a new diamond. This will let the girls practice and play regularly without conflict from the boys' program and should help increase the quality of the team greatly. Coach Thompson said that she would like to thank everyone responsible for helping make this diamond possible; it is greatly appreciated.

Here is the girls' complete schedule:
April 15 at Fisher Catholic 4:30
April 19 Canal Winchester 4:30

Students Celebrate In Florida

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Thousands of college students have again jammed this oceanside resort for their annual spring blowout, but police say this year's crowd is less troublesome than in the past.

This year, the students are concentrating on sun, love and beer.

"The attitude has just been real good on the kids' part this year," police spokesman Ken Phillips said Sunday. "They're real ladies and gentlemen. Mainly, you have to credit it to the fact that they came down here for fun, suns and girls."

There appears to be a lot of each, with 25,000 vacationing students packing the Fort Lauderdale beach Easter weekend.

Along the sidewalks, tanned, shirtless men and bikini-clad women checked out each other as autos bearing out-of-state tags cruised the streets.

The invasion of college students has been spread out longer this year than in the recent past.

"Everything's out of proportion this year," Phillips said. "The students started coming here Feb. 18, so the season's lasting about two months and three weeks this year into May, longer than in the past. And having a late Easter this year spreads it out even more."

Local merchants and police say the students also are less troublesome.

Local bar operator "Crazy Greg" Newell has also noticed a change.

"They're exactly the way they were before the (Vietnam) war," he said.

Junior Class Play Is 'Gaslight Girl'

This year's junior class play is "Gaslight Girl," written by John Jakes. Some of the characters include the virtuous heroine, Mary, (Cheryl Throckmorton), the despicable villain Cadbury, (Rick Payne), and the handsome hero too good to be true, (Randy Watkins).

Mary and her best friend, Bess, played by Sherrie Grate, and other friends walked out of their jobs because of abuse by their boss Grimshaw, played by Eric Maxson.

Helpless and alone without a job, Mary and Bess meet up with all kinds of characters, from the dancing newsboy, Kyle Jones, to the hero, Randy Watkins.

A few other characters include Milo the helpless drunk, played by John Scanlan, and the cruel villain, Rick Payne and his chums.

The plot revolves around the mysterious disappearance of the Aspinwall diamond and its recovering and the slow, unfolding of the mystery.

Some highlights of the play are the ballroom scene and its dancers and also the disgracing bar room scene with the loose lady dancers. The chorus will also add more tune to the play, and the soloists will sing their way into your hearts.

The whole production is a 19th century melodrama combined with a 20th century musical comedy, with plenty of hissing and booing from the audience.

The plot of love will touch the viewers' hearts, and the fools will laugh their way into everyone's heart.

With a total of 49 characters, the play will be performed on May 7 and 8 at 8 p.m. in the McDowell Auditorium. Miss Twana Moats is the director.

NHS Holds Tapping

By BARB BOLENDER

With a very impressive ceremony, the Logan Elm chapter of the National Honor Society inducted 42 new members on March 15. To be eligible for membership, junior and senior students must maintain a 3.25 grade point average and show outstanding qualities of character, leadership, service, and scholarship, the four principles of NHS.

The ceremony was attended by all the LE students, parents of the tapped members faculty and special guests, which included honorary NHS members, H. A. Strous, George McDowell, and Oakley Leist.

On March 24, both old and new members attended a banquet and ceremony at Westfall High School where the new members were initiated into the County National Honor Society. County officers were elected, and the offices were filled by Logan Elm students as follows: president, John Scanlan; vice president, Cathy Watson; secretary, Ann Congrove; chaplain, Nancy Myers; and sergeant-at-arms, Chris Blubaugh.

The new NHS members include Cindy Wharton, Leah Baum, Linda Morgan, Sheila Slonecker, Bret Adams, Chuck Cave, Karen Gifford, Dennis Johnston, Nancy Myers, Marcy Hutchinson, Randy Pontius, Cathy Watson, Patty Rhoades, Allen Strous, John Scanlan, Ann Congrove, Rose Hoffman, Jodi DeLong, Vicki Hunt, Joyce Fogler, Kathy Ratcliff, Scott Turvey, Debbie Betz, Tammy Valentine, Starla Van Curen, Pam Adams, Chris Blubaugh, Karen Hunt, Kevin Kerns, Bill Leist, Belinda Seimer, Randy Watkins, Becky Mundy, Pam Swackhammer, Thorn-dike Barnhart, Donna Hupp, Cheryl Throckmorton, Norma Faulkner, Peggy Wilson, Susan Barnett, Kevelyn Maxson, and Heidi Riddle.

Girls Track Team Ready For Season

By DEBBIE LECKRONE

This year's girls' track team is coached by head coach Christy Owens. This is her first year as the coach. The girls have been practicing for some time now and are ready for stiff competition.

There are 28 girls on the team covering events such as 100 yard dash; 220, 440, and 880 runs; the mile run; high jump; long jump; shot put; discus; and the relays.

This year's seniors are Gina Henn and Shelley Swank. The whole team looks forward to many victories. Following is the complete schedule:

- April 22 — Liberty Union and Fisher Catholic at Liberty Union 4:30

BOE Students To Go For Office Training

Mrs. Amber Bigam's 37 business and office education students are preparing themselves for their three-week on-the-job work experience, which will officially begin on April 26.

This program, initiated by Mrs. Bigam and the Logan Elm Principal Dow West seven years ago, allows the secretarial students to be placed in business offices for three weeks during their regular three-hour classroom block of time.

The 18 senior girls will be working from 8:30-11:00 a.m., and the 19 junior students will be working from 12:30-3:00 p.m. daily during the three weeks. The girls are evaluated by their respective employers on their office skills, attitude on the job, etc. They are also visited while on the job one time by Mrs. Bigam.

During the three weeks, each student is expected to keep a diary of her office activities and to observe and learn as much about her particular office as she can so that she may prepare herself better for her future career.

The following participating business offices located in Circleville, Laurelville, and Kingston, are to be thanked for their cooperation in making this program a success: Pickaway County Probate Court, PPG Industries, Inc., Lowe's of Circleville, Pickaway Manor, The Circleville Herald, Pickaway County Clerk of Courts, Cooperative Extension Service, Pickaway County Treasurer, Harold Mundy Pontiac, Circleville Manor Nursing Home, Laurelville School, Pickaway County Superintendent of Schools, Owens-Illinois, Inc., Community United Methodist Church, Pickaway County Common Pleas Court, American Red Cross, Ralston Purina, PICCA, First National Bank of Kingston, Veteran's Service Office, Farm Bureau, WNRE Radio, ASCS Office, Pickaway County Welfare Department, Sharff's Fashions, and the Logan Elm High School Office.

The business department and the individual students enrolled in business and office education have found this to be a very rewarding three-week experience in past years. There is nothing like practical experience to find out if one is headed in the right direction.

Girls Softball Team Looks Toward Mid-State Crown

By JEFF REICHELDERFER

With eight returning starters coming back from a 5-4 year, Logan Elm will be a top contender for the Mid-State League girls' softball crown. This is the second year for organized league play. According to Coach Kathy Thompson, the girls from Millersport, last year's league champion, and Fisher Catholic, the second place team, will be the top contenders for the league crown along with her own girls.

A strong group of young sophomores make up the nucleus of the team. The returners are Annette Roof, Diane Martin, Beth Bell, Joyce Pine, Debbie Betz, Khrista Gifford, Tina Woods, and Monica Payne. For the first time in Ohio High School history, there will be a girls' state softball tournament. Also, a first this year will be the selection of an All Mid-State Girls' Team. This should add extra incentive for everyone with such great goals to be sought.

Coach Thompson has now scheduled nine games for her "Logan Elm Ten," not including the State Tournament games. She stated that because of the high number of candidates for the squad, a cut was necessary this year. She also said that the strong sophomore unit at Logan Elm made it very tough for incoming freshmen to make the team.

With the tough opening games on the schedule, Coach Thompson has set up three scrimmages with Greenfield McClain, Washington Court House, and Grove City.

A new addition to the Logan Elm girls' program this year is a new diamond. This will let the girls practice and play regularly without conflict from the boys' program and should help increase the quality of the team greatly. Coach Thompson said that she would like to thank everyone responsible for helping make this diamond possible; it is greatly appreciated.

Here is the girls' complete schedule: April 15 at Fisher Catholic 4:30 April 19 Canal Winchester 4:30

- April 22 at Pickerington 6:00
- April 26 Liberty Union 4:30
- April 29 at Fairfield Union 4:30
- May 3 Berne Union 4:30
- May 6 Millersport 4:30
- May 10 at Bloom Carroll 4:30
- May 13 Amanda 4:30
- May 17 at Circleville 4:30

Sophomores Build Time Capsule

By WAYNE LINTHICUM

Nick Damopolous's Sophomore English class is currently constructing a time capsule — not the type of imaginary trips a person first thinks of in association with a time capsule, but the type where articles of importance are enclosed in a fiberglass-like container sealed air tight. Then in 25 years of the year 2001, the time capsule will be opened to see how much change has taken place. The time capsule is to be buried beside the flag pole in front of the high school.

Things that will be put in this capsule include a yearbook, dress styles, names of the mayor of Circleville and the LE principal, organizations' members at the high school, and other things that the next few generations may look back at the way that we look at articles of 25 years ago. We would like to wish the sophomore English class a lot of luck and may we see it all again in 2001!

State Board OKs Rhodes Lawyer Fee Payment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio will pay the hand-picked lawyer who represented Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes in the 16-week Kent State University damages trial, but not necessarily his future legal bills in the still unresolved appeal.

The controlling board, with one Democrat joining three minority Republicans, voted 4-3 Monday to pay $76,970 to Rhodes' lawyer, R. Brooke Alloway of Columbus, saying the debt amounted to "a moral obligation."

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, who cast the deciding vote after hinting earlier he was against payment, said despite the lack of a written agreement with Alloway, there was evidence the attorney "did go forward and represent the governor. We just couldn't stonewall the issue."

Meshel added however, that he could not be counted upon to vote for any future legal fees for the governor. Plaintiffs against Rhodes and other officials named in the civil action, which stems from the May 4, 1970 Kent State shootings, already have filed appeals with the 6th U.S. Circuit of Appeals in Cincinnati.

They acted after U.S. District Court in Cleveland found in favor of Rhodes and other defendants. These included Dr. Robert I. White, former president of the university, and some top ranking officers of the Ohio National Guard.

Parents of students slain and wounded when guardsmen opened fire during a campus uprising sought to collect a total of $46 million in damages from Rhodes and other officials. So far, the state has spent in excess of $700,000 for defense of officials and of some guardsmen accused of criminal charges but also acquitted after a long trial.

Alloway's fees were called into question by the controlling board earlier, because he had been picked by Rhodes after the governor had been offered state-paid counsel from the attorney general's office.

Alloway said the step was unprecedented, but within the right of the governor when his personal interests also were at stake. The board apparently bought the argument.

Prosecuter Attacks Patty Hearst Story

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A prosecutor, challenging Patricia Hearst's credibility as an informer, says the secret bank robbery story she told authorities was motivated by loyalty to her underground lover, Steven Soliah.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Richard Nichols, opposing Soliah's request to open Miss Hearst's revelations to public view, indicated Monday that authorities believed the convict-heiress has lied about the robbery.

Soliah is the only person charged in the April 21, 1975, robbery of a Crocker National Bank branch in suburban Carmichael in which a woman customer was slain by a shotgun blast.

"There is rational reason for disbelieving a woman who wants to look out for her boyfriend, and that's what it comes down to," said Nichols. Miss Hearst's truthfulness is at the center of a dispute in which a major decision was due today. U.S. District Court Judge Philip Wilkins said he would decide whether to hold a full-fledged hearing demanded by Soliah's defense.

The hearing, eliciting testimony from prosecutors and FBI agents, would investigate details Miss Hearst confided about the Carmichael robbery. The government argued that the story is irrelevant because it probably is not true.

"There is certainly an element of self-servingness and protectiveness to one's friend in any statement Miss Hearst might have made," Nichols said.

Soliah's attorney, Sheldon Otis, said he could prove at a hearing that prosecutors ignored Miss Hearst's scenario of the bank robbery because it differed with the recollections of two eyewitnesses.

Miss Hearst told them that Steven Soliah was not in the bank when it was robbed," Otis declared. The two eyewitnesses have placed the 27-year-old house painter inside the bank.

In the first open court discussion of Miss Hearst's secret talks with prosecutors, Otis said he knew that U.S. Atty. Dwayne Keyes and others had listened to Miss Hearst in meetings at the San Francisco federal building between March 4 and April 12, during and after her own bank robbery trial. She was convicted March 20 and is under temporary sentence awaiting 90 days of psychological tests.

The attorney made no mention of summoning Miss Hearst. She is confined to a Redwood City hospital for treatment of a collapsed lung.

Smoking In Cockpits Particular Hazard?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of commercial airline pilots and two public-interest organizations petitioned the federal government today to ban smoking in the cockpit as a "particular hazard in aviation."

The petition to the Federal Aviation Administration also requested a government rule prohibiting smoking by any flight crew member within eight hours of take-off.

A report accompanying the petition said smoking in the cockpit, by the pilot or any other crew member, "significantly interferes with the physical and mental abilities airline pilots need to operate at maximum performance levels."

"An airline pilot who smokes during or before a flight thus is not merely choosing to poison himself, but he is also endangering the lives of possibly hundreds of other people."

The petition was submitted by Ralph Nader's Health Research Group, the Aviation Consumer Action Project and the "Airline Pilots Committee of 76" representing 76 pilots from Eastern, United, Continental, Delta, Braniff, Pan American and National airlines.

The 52-page report, "Smoking: Its Adverse Effects on Airline Pilot Performance," was prepared by the Health Research Group.

Carbon monoxide in tobacco smoke, magnified by high-altitude flying, impairs the performance of crew members, the report said.

"The major impaired abilities include visual acuity, visual brightness threshold, reaction time to visual and auditory stimuli, vigilance, psychomotor coordination, manual dexterity and ability to make judgments and take action under stress," it said.

Even the pilot who does not smoke may experience eye and throat irritation, headaches and nausea if others around him smoke, the report said.

More than 70 per cent of the 767 United Airlines pilots who responded to a recent survey expressed opposition to smoking in the cockpit, the petition to the FAA said, and more than 80 per cent believed that their own health was jeopardized by others who smoke.

Yet, although the government has given commercial passengers the right to choose seats in no-smoking areas aboard planes, the nonsmoking pilot does not have the same privilege, it said.

Suit Names Auto Dealer

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William J. Brown has charged an automobile dealer here with failing to provide proper service on auto repair work.

In a suit filed Monday in Lucas County Common Pleas Court, Brown accused Brondes Motor Sales of charging customers for unnecessary and unauthorized and sometimes "shoddy" repairs. The dealership was also alleged to have charged for work that was not done.

Brown asked for a permanent injunction against further violations of the state consumer law. He also asked the court to order Brondes to establish a compliance program with an escrow fund to pay for reviews of the operation by his office.

Another Democratic board member, Rep. A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, said he agreed that the claim amounted to a moral obligation. But he said he is concerned about the state's possible future obligations "and for that reason I can't vote for this at this time."

Voting against payment were Rep. Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, and Sen. William F. Bowen, D-9 Cincinnati.

All members except Lancione went along with a related request from Atty. Gen. William J. Brown for $335,792 for legal counsel for Rhodes' codefendants. It includes $50,000 for anticipated costs of the pending appeals.

In other action, the board:

—Approved release of $137,776 for health department purchase of spraying equipment and pesticides to beef up Ohio's battle against St. Louis encephalitis this summer and fall. The battle is aimed at eradicating mosquitoes, prime carriers of the "sleeping sickness" type disease that hit Ohio last year for the first time in 10 years.

Musical Variety To Be Filmed At Kings Island

An original 13-week musical variety television series, "The Happy Place," will be filmed at Kings Island family entertainment center beginning April 24.

Don Long, Executive Producer, announced the one-half hour programs will be aired after May 15 on approximately 70 television stations around the country, including WXIX-TV in Cincinnati.

The local program will be shown at 8 p.m. on Sundays, beginning May 16.

The series will feature popular and country music, performed by Billy Thundercloud and the Chieftones of "Cherokee Nation" fame, pop vocalist Joey English, the Mugleston family, and The Sound Relations of Cincinnati. Special guest stars will also appear.

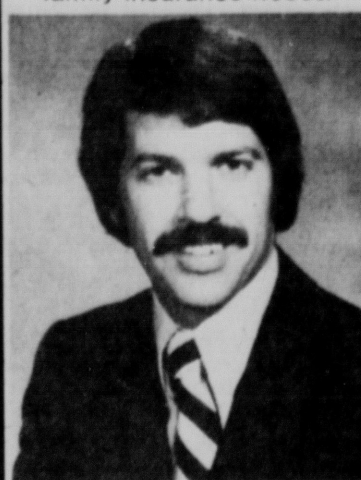

Each segment of the new series will be filmed at various locations around Kings Island.

Long is also producer of the "R.F.D. Hollywood" TV series which is filmed at locations around the country.

He said "The Happy Place" will be the first 13-week show shot entirely in one place.

Beer Strike Continues

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The longest strike in the history of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., continued today, keeping 8,000 workers off the job at nine breweries across the country.

After 51 days, however, some cracks appeared in the united front of brewery workers Monday as about 100 members of Brewers and Malsters Local 6 counterpicketed here at the largest of the firm's breweries Monday.

"We're tired of being out of work," said Emil Nassif, a member of Local 6. "This strike doesn't concern Local 6 at all."

Striking bottlers from other plants closed the St. Louis brewery March 1 and Teamsters Local 1187 representing about 1,500 bottlers here joined the dispute March 25. The St. Louis brewery employs about 4,000 persons.

Police said six persons, one of them wielding a baseball bat were arrested outside the plant Monday as trucks from a local distributor left the plant with beer that was to have been made available to St. Louis retailers today.

State Board OKs Rhodes Lawyer Fee Payment

10 The Circleville Herald
Tuesday April 20, 1976

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio will pay the hand-picked lawyer who represented Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes in the 16-week Kent State University damages trial, but not necessarily his future legal bills in the still unresolved appeal.

The controlling board, with one Democrat joining three minority Republicans, voted 4-3 Monday to pay $76,970 to Rhodes' lawyer, R. Brooke Alloway of Columbus, saying the debt amounted to "a moral obligation."

Sen. Harry Meshe, D-33 Youngstown, who cast the deciding vote after hinting earlier he was against payment, said despite the lack of a written agreement with Alloway, there was evidence the attorney "did go forward and represent the governor. We just couldn't stonewall the issue."

Meshe added however, that he could not be counted upon to vote for any future legal fees for the governor. Plaintiffs against Rhodes and other officials named in the civil action, which stems from the May 4, 1970 Kent State shootings, already have filed appeals with the 6th U.S. Circuit of Appeals in Cincinnati.

They acted after U.S. District Court in Cleveland found in favor of Rhodes and other defendants. These included Dr. Robert I. White, former president of the university, and some top ranking officers of the Ohio National Guard.

Parents of students slain and wounded when guardsmen opened fire during a campus uprising sought to collect a total of $46 million in damages from Rhodes and other officials. So far, the state has spent in excess of $700,000 for defense of officials and of some guardsmen accused of criminal charges but also acquitted after a long trial.

Alloway's fees were called into question by the controlling board earlier, because he had been picked by Rhodes after the governor had been offered state-paid counsel from the attorney general's office.

Alloway said the step was unprecedented, but within the right of the governor when his personal interests also were at stake. The board apparently bought the argument.

Prosecuter Attacks Patty Hearst Story

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A prosecutor, challenging Patricia Hearst's credibility as an informer, says the secret bank robbery story she told authorities was motivated by loyalty to her underground lover, Steven Soliah.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Richard Nichols, opposing Soliah's request to open Miss Hearst's revelations to public view, indicated Monday that authorities believed the convict-heiress has lied about the robbery.

Soliah is the only person charged in the April 21, 1975, robbery of a Crocker National Bank branch in suburban Carmichael in which a woman customer was slain by a shotgun blast.

"There is rational reason for disbelieving a woman who wants to look out for her boyfriend, and that's what it comes down to," said Nichols.

Miss Hearst's truthfulness is at the center of a dispute in which a major decision was due today. U.S. District Court Judge Philip Wilkins said he would decide whether to hold a full-fledged hearing demanded by Soliah's defense.

The hearing, eliciting testimony from prosecutors and FBI agents, would investigate details Miss Hearst confided about the Carmichael robbery. The government argued that the story is irrelevant because it probably is not true.

"There is certainly an element of self-servingness and protectiveness to one's friend in any statement Miss Hearst might have made," Nichols said.

Soliah's attorney, Sheldon Otis, said he could prove at a hearing that prosecutors ignored Miss Hearst's scenario of the bank robbery because it differed with the recollections of two eyewitnesses.

Miss Hearst told them that Steven Soliah was not in the bank when it was robbed," Otis declared. The two eyewitnesses have placed the 27-year-old house painter inside the bank.

In the first open court discussion of Miss Hearst's secret talks with prosecutors, Otis said he knew that U.S. Atty. Dwayne Keyes and others had listened to Miss Hearst in meetings at the San Francisco federal building between March 4 and April 12, during and after her own bank robbery trial. She was convicted March 20 and is under temporary sentence awaiting 90 days of psychological tests.

The attorney made no mention of summoning Miss Hearst. She is confined to a Redwood City hospital for treatment of a collapsed lung.

Smoking In Cockpits Particular Hazard?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of commercial airline pilots and two public-interest organizations petitioned the federal government today to ban smoking in the cockpit as a "particular hazard in aviation."

The petition to the Federal Aviation Administration also requested a government rule prohibiting smoking by any flight crew member within eight hours of take-off.

A report accompanying the petition said smoking in the cockpit, by the pilot or any other crew member, "significantly interferes with the physical and mental abilities of pilots need to operate at maximum performance levels."

"An airline pilot who smokes during or before a flight thus is not merely choosing to poison himself, but he is also endangering the lives of possibly hundreds of other people."

The petition was submitted by Ralph Nader's Health Research Group, the Aviation Consumer Action Project and the "Airline Pilots Committee of 76" representing 76 pilots from Eastern, United, Continental, Delta, Braniff, Pan American and National airlines. The 52-page report, "Smoking: Its Adverse Effects on Airline Pilot Performance," was prepared by the Health Research Group.

Carbon monoxide in tobacco smoke, magnified by high-altitude flying, impairs the performance of crew members, the report said.

"The major impaired abilities include visual acuity, visual brightness threshold, reaction time to visual and auditory stimuli, vigilance, psychomotor coordination, manual dexterity and ability to make judgments and take action under stress," it said.

Even the pilot who does not smoke may experience eye and throat irritation, headaches and nausea if others around him smoke, the report said.

More than 70 per cent of the 767 United Airlines pilots who responded to a recent survey expressed opposition to smoking in the cockpit, the petition to the FAA said, and more than 80 per cent believed that their own health was jeopardized by others who smoke.

Yet, although the government has given commercial passengers the right to choose seats in no-smoking areas aboard planes, the nonsmoking pilot does not have the same privilege, it said.

Suit Names Auto Dealer

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William J. Brown has charged an automobile dealer here with failing to provide proper service on auto repair work.

In a suit filed Monday in Lucas County Common Pleas Court, Brown accused Brondes Motor Sales of charging customers for unnecessary and unauthorized and sometimes "shoddy" repairs. The dealership was also alleged to have charged for work that was not done.

Brown asked for a permanent injunction against further violations of the state consumer law. He also asked the court to order Brondes to establish a compliance program with an escrow fund to pay for reviews of the operation by his office.

Another Democratic board member, Rep. A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, said he agreed that the claim amounted to a moral obligation. But he said he is concerned about the state's possible future obligations "and for that reason I can't vote for this at this time."

Voting against payment were Rep. Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, and Sen. William F. Bowen, D-9 Cincinnati.

All members except Lancione went along with a related request from Atty. Gen. William J. Brown for $335,792 for legal counsel for Rhodes' codefendants. It includes $50,000 for anticipated costs of the pending appeals.

In other action, the board: —Approved release of $137,776 for health department purchase of spraying equipment and pesticides to beef up Ohio's battle against St. Louis encephalitis this summer and fall. The battle is aimed at eradicating mosquitoes, prime carriers of the "sleeping sickness" type disease that hit Ohio last year for the first time in 10 years.

—Authorized health department expenditure of $19,700 for "air gun injectors" designed to make pending inoculations of Ohioans against swine flu needle free. Musical Variety To Be Filmed At Kings Island

An original 13-week musical variety television series, "The Happy Place," will be filmed at Kings Island family entertainment center beginning April 24.

Don Long, Executive Producer, announced the one-half hour programs will be aired after May 15 on approximately 70 television stations around the country, including WXIX-TV in Cincinnati.

The local program will be shown at 8 p.m. on Sundays, beginning May 16.

The series will feature popular and country music, performed by Billy Thundercloud and the Chieftones of "Cherokee Nation" fame, pop vocalist Joey English, the Mugglestons family, and The Sound Relations of Cincinnati.

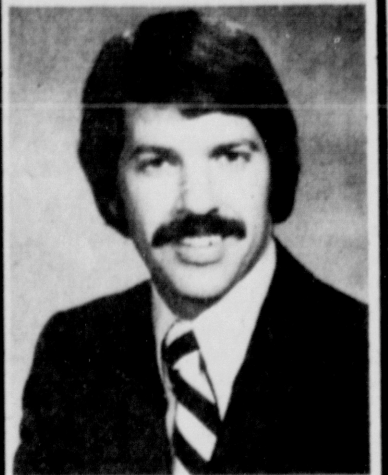

Special guest stars will also appear. Each segment of the new series will be filmed at various locations around Kings Island.

Long is also producer of the "R.F.D. Hollywood" TV series which is filmed at locations around the country.

He said "The Happy Place" will be the first 13-week show shot entirely in one place.

Fighting Continues In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The new truce supervision committee said today that Palestinian troops would form a buffer force between Beirut's warring Moslem and Christian street fighters, but meanwhile the fighting raged without letup.

Police said about 100 persons were killed and 160 wounded by mortar and rocket fire during the night. One of those killed was the 16-year-old grandson of Pierre Gemayel, whose rightwing Phalange party has the largest Christian militia in the year-old civil war.

Police also reported that more than 150 persons were kidnapped but that most were released after a short time.

A new cease-fire, agreed to under Syrian pressure during the weekend, was to have gone into effect at midnight Monday. But the deadline made no difference in the fighting in the capital and nearby mountain towns.

Decisions made by the leaders were not transformed into orders to the hodgepodge of street armies, reflecting the leaders' tenuous control over their forces and their distrust of each other.

As leftist Moslem and Palestinians leaders met Monday night to discuss ways of enforcing the cease-fire, leftist gunmen were attacking Phalangist positions in the Beirut port area.

Similarly, long after Gemayel subscribed to the truce, Christian gunmen were firing mortar and artillery shells into Moslem positions in the charred downtown hotel district and nearby commercial streets.

Beer Strike Continues

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The longest strike in the history of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., continued today, keeping 8,000 workers off the job at nine breweries across the country.

After 51 days, however, some cracks appeared in the united front of brewery workers Monday as about 100 members of Brewers and Maltsters Local 6 counterpicketed here at the largest of the firm's breweries Monday.

"We're tired of being out of work," said Emil Nassif, a member of Local 6. "This strike doesn't concern Local 6 at all."

Striking bottlers from other plants closed the St. Louis brewery March 1 and Teamsters Local 1187 representing about 1,500 bottlers here joined the dispute March 25. The St. Louis brewery employs about 4,000 persons.

Police said six persons, one of them wielding a baseball bat were arrested outside the plant Monday as trucks from a local distributor left the plant with beer that was to have been made available to St. Louis retailers today.

Mets Edge St. Louis, 4-3

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
With one wave of his wand, Del Unser made a baseball disappear and at the same time changed himself from a goat into a hero.
A misplay by the New York centerfielder allowed two St. Louis runs in the first inning, but he made up for it in the 17th with a home run that provided the Mets with a 4-3 victory Monday night.

"When you get into extra innings, there's no sense fooling around," said Unser, who pulverized a Mike Wallace fastball with two out to break up a marathon four-hour, 46-minute game.

The shot heard 'round Busch Stadium settled a dramatic battle which had been tied by the Cardinals in the seventh inning, some two hours before.
Unser went up to the plate with one thing in mind: "I was just thinking of swinging at the ball and swinging hard."

Wallace said later he was just thinking of one thing, too: Throwing a fastball on the first pitch to get ahead.
"He's the type of guy that wanted to get ahead," said Unser, who once played with Wallace on the Philadelphia Phillies. "If he had, he's got a good fork ball, and a good curve and he would have been tough to hit."
Extra-inning games are old hat between the Cardinals and Mets. Two years ago, they played a seven-hour, 25-inning affair at Shea Stadium, the longest night game in baseball history.

In the other National League games, the Houston Astros beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 8-3 and the Montreal Expos downed the Chicago Cubs 4-3. In the American League, the California Angels belted the Baltimore Orioles 9-4; the Oakland A's tripped the Detroit Tigers 6-5 in 10 innings and the Boston Red Sox blanked the Minnesota Twins 2-0.
Unser's hit was his first in eight at-bats and the only extra-base blow among 18 Mets hits off Wallace and five other Cardinal pitchers. Aided by a St. Louis error, New York wiped out a 2-0 St. Louis lead with a three-run burst in the second inning and protected that slim edge until Vic Harris and pinch-hitter Ron Fairly rifled doubles for the Cards off New York ace Tom Seaver.

Seaver then departed in the eighth, giving way to Skip Lockwood, who was followed to the mound by Ken Sanders and Bob Apodaca, 1-0, the winner.
Astros 8, Dodgers 3
Jose Cruz belted a three-run triple to key a four-run first inning and trigger Houston past Los Angeles. Cruz' hit climaxed the Astros' big first inning and provided them with their eventual winning run.
The victory boosted Houston into an unaccustomed position — first place in the NL West.

Expos 4, Cubs 3
Pete Mackanin's two-run homer in the fourth inning and Mike Jorgensen's RBI double in the seventh carried Montreal past Chicago. Mackanin's belt, following a walk to Tim Lincecum, was the 13th of his career but ironically only the first with a man on base.
"I took a lot of kidding from my teammates about that," said Mackanin, "but I think I took a lot of the pressure off this spring when I hit one with two men on."
Angels 9, Orioles 4
Bobby Bonds made his debut with California by drilling three singles and stealing a base and the Angels erupted with a 13-hit attack to rout Baltimore in a game marred by a beanball war. The trouble erupted in the eighth inning when Mark Belanger of Baltimore was sent sprawling in the dirt by Angels starter and winner Frank Tanana.

Moments earlier, Angels catcher Andy Etchebarren, a former Oriole, was hit by Baltimore reliever Wayne Garland. That came after Dave Chalk broke up a close game with a bases-loaded triple and then scored himself when he crashed into Baltimore catcher Dave Duncan, knocking the ball loose.
Manager Earl Weaver of the Orioles was ejected following the melee, during which no punches were thrown but which had players streaming from both dugouts and bullpens.
A's 6, Tigers 5
Phil Garner singled to score Ken McMullen with the winning run in the 10th inning as Oakland defeated Detroit. Garner's hit came off Detroit relief ace John Hiller. With one out in the 10th, Hiller walked McMullen and Bert Campaneris. Garner then singled to right-center field to end the game.
Detroit had taken a 5-4 lead in the top of the ninth on a single by Dan Meyer and a double by Willie Horton.

Red Sox 2, Twins 0
Ferguson Jenkins pitched a five-hitter, leading Boston over Minnesota. It was his first victory in a Red Sox uniform after two losses this season.

Vikings Top Dublin In Metro Clash

Teays Valley seems to have found the winning trail as the Vikings traveled to Dublin and came home with their second consecutive win, 7-3, Monday in a Metropolitan League clash.

Terry Smith went all the way for the Vikings as he scattered four hits, three walks and fanned seven.

Ranie Wohnhas belted a triple for the Vikings, Greg Prince, Duane Keller and Lance Roesse doubled while Rusty Rathburn, Roger Bicker and Eric Graves each rapped a single.

Teays Valley tallied a pair of runs in the top of the first inning, added single markers in the third and fourth and capped the scoring with a three run outburst in the seventh. Keller and Roesse struck the big blows in the Vikings' seventh, both doubles.

Wohnhas, Keller and Roesse each had an RBI for the Vikings.

The Vikings committed two errors in the game while Dublin misplayed the ball four times.

Teays Valley is now 3-9 for the season and 2-1 in the Metropolitan League. They will host Hamilton Twp. 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Aces Upend Millersport In Mid State

Cloyce Hartley and Mark Bitler combined to hurl two-hit ball while Ralph Hedrick and Mike Cassill accounted for a total of seven RBIs as Amanda-Clearcreek stopped Millersport, 10-1, Monday on the losers' diamond.

Hartley opened on the hill and fired hitless ball until Gene Barrett rapped a double for Millersport in the fifth inning. He gave up one-hit, 7 walks and fanned seven.

Bitler came on to pitch the last two frames, allowing one-hit, walking one and striking out three.

Bob Washburn went all the way for Millersport, giving up 11 hits, two walks and striking out four.

Hedrick had a triple, two singles and three RBIs for the Aces, Cassill belted two doubles and had four RBIs, Ed Thompson rapped a double and single, Jim Young belted a double while Tom Hinton, Keith Kelley and Mark Bitler each slashed a single.

The Aces committed one error while Millersport misplayed the ball four times.

Amanda-Clearcreek is now 9-4 for the season, 3-3 in Mid State, and will host Fisher Catholic 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Baeber Captures Sprint Feature At Atomic Track

With the sixth fastest time in the qualifiers, Johnny Baeber showed he knew how to get the job done in the right way when he pulled out ahead to a sure victory over the pack of 20 in the Super Sprint feature race at Atomic Speedway, Saturday night.

Doe Dawson and Mark Kron, both with faster qualifying times, had to be content with second and third slots.

Jerry McDonald had no trouble coping first place in the Late Models feature, though his fans were a little worried when he came in fifth in the heat race. Second and third places went to Delmus Conley and Skip Mount, respectively.

Car No. 1 became No. 1 in reality when driver Jim Taylor brought it in to a first place finish in the Hobby Stocks feature, followed by Jim Vulgamore, second, and Richard Morehead, third.

Davy Williams provided some added thrills as his car left the track at the outer bank twice during the race. Both times Williams immediately gunned his car up onto the track to get back into the running.

Fine spring weather and an improved race course combined to assure the local track of a good season opener. Ninety-two race car drivers paid entry fees to compete before the capacity crowd of more than 3,000 fans.

Pete Rose Doubts Hit String To Stay

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose was only a couple of months old when Joe DiMaggio set a major league baseball record in 1941 with his hitting streak of 56 consecutive games.

DiMaggio's streak is still a record and is being mentioned more than ever around the Cincinnati Reds' clubhouse where Rose currently has a 22 game hitting streak going.

But, with all due respects, the bulldog-tough third baseman doubts that DiMaggio's streak can be duplicated in the current area of specialization.

"It's so hard to get any lengthy streak going because of today's relief pitching," said Rose, who is hitting .514 after eight games, thanks to a searing 18-for-35 start.

Hitting is Rose's grand obsession, but the 35-year-old veteran has not gotten overly excited about his streak.

"You don't want to start thinking about that," he said. "I just swing and hope. You've got to be super lucky. You've got to be lucky just to hit .300."

Rose has been lucky for ten of his years in the majors and ten days ago, he moved past Lou Brock of St. Louis as the all-time hit leader among active National League players. Rose has 2,565 hits during his 14-year career, 49th on the alltime list.

Hot streaks are nothing new for Rose, who is five games away from tying the Reds alltime mark of 27, jointly held by Edd Roush and Vada Pinson. Roush did it twice, in 1920 and 1924, and Pinson equalled it in 1965.

"Another time I hit safely in 39 of 40 games. I hit .400 during that two-month stretch," Rose recalled.

DiMaggio had a .408 batting average and 55 runs batted in during his 1941 batting binge which began on May 15

Ohio-Indiana All-Star Tilt Set Friday

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The uniforms will be different, but the faces will look awfully familiar in Friday night's Indiana-Ohio college All-Star basketball game here.

The Hoosier team will be led by all five seniors on Indiana University's NCAA basketball championship squad.

Bobby Wilkerson, Tom Abernethy and Jim Crews had announced earlier they would play, and All-American Scott May and Quinn Buckner confirmed Monday night they also would participate.

Other members of the Indiana team are Rick Williams and Geoff Shuck of Indiana State, Barry Collier of Butler, Kyle Wiggs of St. Joseph's and John Hunt of Earlham.

The Indiana coach will be Hanover's John Collier.

The Ohio team, coached by Miami's Darrel Hedrick, will be Tom Dunn of Wittenberg, David Bromley of Otterbein, Larry Cole and Mike Larsen of Toledo, Greg Olson and Bill McGinley of Miami, Mike Plunkett of Xavier, Mike Klein of Malone, Scott Love of Ohio University, Bob Grote of Wright State and Andre Richardson of Bowling Green.

The second game in the annual series will be Sunday afternoon at Ohio State's St. John Arena in Columbus.

Bettenhausen Up In Point Standings

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Gary Bettenhausen, who won at New Bremen, Ohio, on Sunday, has moved from 13th to fifth in U.S. Auto Club sprint car point standings this week.

Larry Dickson remains the leader with 118 points, while Tom Bigelow, who finished second at New Bremen, moved from fourth to second at 101 points.

Sheldon Kinser fell from second to third, at 81 points, while Pancho Carter, who finished fourth at New Bremen, advanced from eighth to fourth, at 76 points. Bettenhausen is just two points behind Carter.

Braves Gain Victory Over Indians, 11-2

Logan Elm moved into sole possession of second place in the Mid State League with an 11-2 win over Canal Winchester Monday on the Indians diamond.

The Braves are now 5-1 in the league and trail Pickerington who is 6-0. The Braves will host Pickerington 4:15 p.m. Thursday in a big league battle.

Tim Justus opened on the hill for Logan Elm and went four innings. He gave up one hit, walked five and fanned eight. Tony Crist came on to hurl the last three and allowed four hits, one walk and struck out five.

Gary Kiser and Brian Black shared mound duties for the Indians, allowing 14 hits, five walks while striking out two.

Rob Black had two doubles and a pair of RBIs for the Braves, Mark Skinner rapped three singles and two RBIs, Chuck Cave slammed a pair of one-baggers and two RBIs, Jeff Collins rapped a double and single, Randy Pontius slashed two singles, Jeff Reichelderfer belted a long triple, while Jerry Scanlan and Steve Rawlins both bombed doubles.

Logan Elm committed two errors in the game and Canal Winchester had three.

The Braves jumped in front in the top of the first when with one out, Pontius singled, stole second and scored on Reichelderfer's triple to right center.

They put the game on ice in the third frame when they tallied four times. The Braves added lone tallies in the fourth, fifth and sixth and capped it with two runs in the seventh.

Canal Winchester scored single runs in the first and second innings.

Erving, Nets Defeat San Antonio, 110-108

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Julius Erving has been the American Basketball Association's Most Valuable Player each of the past three seasons, and he showed why at the Nassau Coliseum Monday night.

Erving's 32 points helped New York to a 110-108 lead over the San Antonio Spurs, and his blocked shot in the final five seconds kept it that way as the Nets grabbed a 3-2 advantage in their best-of-seven playoff semifinal.

With nine seconds to go and the Spurs trailing by two, San Antonio called time out and set up a play for Mike Gale. The 6-foot-4 guard, a former Net, shook free along the left side some 18 feet from the basket and let fly with a jumper with five seconds to play.

"I thought I had it," he said, shaking his head. "It looked good all the way. It seemed like it had eyes ... and then he came from out of nowhere."

"He" was Erving. Dr. J, lurking near the foul line, swooped over and rejected the shot. A desperation try by George Gervin at the buzzer bounced off the rim, and the Nets had their 110-108 triumph.

In the other ABA semifinal, the Kentucky Colonels beat the Denver Nuggets 126-114 at Louisville to take a 2-1 lead in the series.

"I saw Gale from the foul line," said Erving. "I was waiting for him to commit himself. I was watching the ball, not my man. Once he went into the air I just moved over and blocked it."

Ex-Net Larry Kenon led the Spurs with 27 points.

The Nets can wrap up the series Wednesday night in San Antonio. If the Spurs win that one, the deciding game will be played Sunday at the Nassau Coliseum.

Speedy guard Bird Averitt scored 40 points and 7-foot-2 center Artis Gilmore netted 36 to lead the Colonels past the Nuggets, the ABA's regular-season champions.

"I had it going," said Averitt. "Some nights you are on, and tonight was my night."

Averitt's basket with three minutes to play gave Kentucky a 114-106 advantage, but three points by Chuck Williams cut the deficit to five. Two free throws by Gilmore were offset by a basket by Denver's Bobby Jones, but then Averitt hit six consecutive points to clinch the victory.

David Thompson was high scorer for Denver with 29 points and Ralph Simpson had 28.

Kentucky hosts Denver in the fourth game of the series Wednesday, with Game 5 in Denver Thursday.

Flyers Face Maple Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Philadelphia Flyers are back on Broad Street tonight — so look for them to be the same old Bullies.

The Flyers' game is hitting, and now that they've returned to the friendly confines of the Spectrum, expect some hitting when they take on the Toronto Maple Leafs in the fifth game of their National Hockey League playoff series, which is tied 2-2.

Two other Stanley Cup quarter-final series, both tied 2-2, resume tonight with the Los Angeles Kings at the Boston Bruins and the New York Islanders at the Buffalo Sabres.

The Montreal Canadiens eliminated Chicago in four straight, wrapping up their set series with a 4-1 decision Sunday night.

Ohio State Captures Muirfield Golf Title

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State has captured the first annual Muirfield Invitational Collegiate Golf Tournament by five strokes, but an Ohio Wesleyan senior won individual medalist honors.

Jim Ryan shot a two under par 74 Monday, edging OSU's Ralph Guarasci with a 75 for individual honors.

It was no contest in the team competition as the four Buckeye golfers turned in a 312 over 18 holes, topping Miami at 317, and Ryan's Wesleyan squad at 319.

Mets Edge St. Louis, 4-3

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
With one wave of his wand, Del Unser made a baseball disappear and at the same time changed himself from a goat into a hero.

A misplay by the New York centerfielder allowed two St. Louis runs in the first inning, but he made up for it in the 17th with a home run that provided the Mets with a 4-3 victory Monday night.

"When you get into extra innings, there's no sense fooling around," said Unser, who pulverized a Mike Wallace fastball with two out to break up a marathon four-hour, 46-minute game.

The shot heard 'round Busch Stadium settled a dramatic battle which had been tied by the Cardinals in the seventh inning, some two hours before.

Unser went up to the plate with one thing in mind: "I was just thinking of swinging at the ball and swinging hard."

Wallace said later he was just thinking of one thing, too: Throwing a fastball on the first pitch to get ahead.

"He's the type of guy that wanted to get ahead," said Unser, who once played with Wallace on the Philadelphia Phillies. "If he had, he's got a good fork ball, and a good curve and he would have been tough to hit."

Extra-inning games are old hat between the Cardinals and Mets. Two years ago, they played a seven-hour, 25-inning affair at Shea Stadium, the longest night game in baseball history.

In the other National League games, the Houston Astros beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 8-3 and the Montreal Expos downed the Chicago Cubs 4-3. In the American League, the California Angels belted the Baltimore Orioles 9-4; the Oakland A's tripped the Detroit Tigers 6-5 in 10 innings and the Boston Red Sox blanked the Minnesota Twins 2-0.

Unser's hit was his first in eight at-bats and the only extra-base blow among 18 Mets hits off Wallace and five other Cardinal pitchers. Aided by a St. Louis error, New York wiped out a 2-0 St. Louis lead with a three-run burst in the second inning and protected that slim edge until Vic Harris and pinch-hitter Ron Fairly rifled doubles for the Cards off New York ace Tom Seaver.

Seaver then departed in the eighth, giving way to Skip Lockwood, who was followed to the mound by Ken Sanders and Bob Apodaca, 1-0, the winner.

Astros 8, Dodgers 3
Jose Cruz belted a three-run triple to key a four-run first inning and trigger Houston past Los Angeles. Cruz' hit climaxed the Astros' big first inning and provided them with their eventual winning run.

The victory boosted Houston into an unaccustomed position — first place in the NL West.

Expos 4, Cubs 3
Pete Mackanin's two-run homer in the fourth inning and Mike Jorgensen's RBI double in the seventh carried Montreal past Chicago. Mackanin's belt, following a walk to Tim Foli, was the 13th of his career but ironically only the first with a man on base.

"I took a lot of kidding from my teammates about that," said Mackanin, "but I think I took a lot of the pressure off this spring when I hit one with two men on."

Angels 9, Orioles 4

Bobby Bonds made his debut with California by drilling three singles and stealing a base and the Angels erupted with a 13-hit attack to rout Baltimore in a game marred by a beanball war. The trouble erupted in the eighth inning when Mark Belanger of Baltimore was sent sprawling in the dirt by Angels starter and winner Frank Tanana.

Moments earlier, Angels catcher Andy Etchebarren, a former Oriole, was hit by Baltimore reliever Wayne Garland. That came after Dave Chalk broke up a close game with a bases-loaded triple and then scored himself when he crashed into Baltimore catcher Dave Duncan, knocking the ball loose.

Manager Earl Weaver of the Orioles was ejected following the melee, during which no punches were thrown but which had players streaming from both dugouts and bullpens.

A's 6, Tigers 5

Red Sox 2, Twins 0

Ferguson Jenkins pitched a five-hitter, leading Boston over Minnesota. It was his first victory in a Red Sox uniform after two losses this season.

Ohio State Captures Muirfield Golf Title

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State has captured the first annual Muirfield Invitational Collegiate Golf Tournament by five strokes, but an Ohio Wesleyan senior won individual medalist honors.

Jim Ryan shot a two under par 74 Monday, edging OSU's Ralph Guarasci with a 75 for individual honors.

It was no contest in the team competition as the four Buckeye golfers turned in a 312 over 18 holes, topping Miami at 317, and Ryan's Wesleyan squad at 319.

Vikings Top Dublin In Metro Clash

Teays Valley seems to have found the winning trail as the Vikings traveled to Dublin and came home with their second consecutive win, 7-3, Monday in a Metropolitan League clash.

Terry Smith went all the way for the Vikings as he scattered four hits, three walks and fanned seven.

Bob Townsend gave up seven hits, six walks and struck out nine.

Ranie Wohnhas belted a triple for the Vikings, Greg Prince, Duane Keller and Lance Roese doubled while Rusty Rathburn, Roger Bicker and Eric Graves each rapped a single.

Teays Valley tallied a pair of runs in the top of the first inning, added single markers in the third and fourth and capped the scoring with a three run outburst in the seventh. Keller and Roese struck the big blows in the Vikings' seventh, both doubles.

Wohnhas, Keller and Roese each had an RBI for the Vikings.

The Vikings committed two errors in the game while Dublin misplayed the ball four times.

Teays Valley is now 3-9 for the season and 2-1 in the Metropolitan League. They will host Hamilton Twp. 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Aces Upend Millersport In Mid State

Cloyce Hartley and Mark Bitler combined to hurl two-hit ball while Ralph Hedrick and Mike Cassill accounted for a total of seven RBIs as Amanda-Clearcreek stopped Millersport, 10-1, Monday on the losers' diamond.

Hartley opened on the hill and fired hitless ball until Gene Barrett rapped a double for Millersport in the fifth inning. He gave up one-hit, 7 walks and fanned seven.

Bitler came on to pitch the last two frames, allowing one-hit, walking one and striking out three.

Bob Washburn went all the way for Millersport, giving up 11 hits, two walks and striking out four.

Hedrick had a triple, two singles and three RBIs for the Aces, Cassill belted two doubles and had four RBIs, Ed Thompson rapped a double and single. Jim Young belted a double while Tom Hinton, Keith Kelley and Mark Bitler each slashed a single.

The Aces committed one error while Millersport misplayed the ball four times.

Amanda-Clearcreek is now 9-4 for the season, 3-3 in Mid State, and will host Fisher Catholic 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Baeber Captures Sprint Feature At Atomic Track

With the sixth fastest time in the qualifiers, Johnny Baeber showed he knew how to get the job done in the right way when he pulled out ahead to a sure victory over the pack of 20 in the Super Sprint feature race at Atomic Speedway, Saturday night.

Doc Dawson and Mark Kron, both with faster qualifying times, had to be content with second and third slots.

Jerry McDonald had no trouble coping first place in the Late Models feature, though his fans were a little worried when he came in fifth in the heat race. Second and third places went to Delmis Conley and Skip Mount, respectively.

Car No. 1 became No. 1 in reality when driver Jim Taylor brought it in to a first place finish in the Hobby Stocks feature, followed by Jim Vulgamore, second, and Richard Morehead, third.

Dave Williams provided some added thrills as his car left the track at the outer bank twice during the race. Both times Williams immediately gunned his car up onto the track to get back into the running.

Fine spring weather and an improved race course combined to assure the local track of a good season opener. Ninety-two race car drivers paid entry fees to compete before the capacity crowd of more than 3,000 fans.

Pete Rose Doubts Hit String To Stay

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose was only a couple of months old when Joe DiMaggio set a major league baseball record in 1941 with his hitting streak of 56 consecutive games.

DiMaggio's streak is still a record and is being mentioned more than ever around the Cincinnati Reds' clubhouse where Rose currently has a 22 game hitting streak going.

But, with all due respects, the bulldog-tough third baseman doubts that DiMaggio's streak can be duplicated in the current area of specialization.

"It's so hard to get any lengthy streak going because of today's relief pitching," said Rose, who is hitting .514 after eight games, thanks to a searing 18-for-35 start.

Hitting is Rose's grand obsession, but the 35-year-old veteran has not gotten overly excited about his streak.

"You don't want to start thinking about that," he said. "I just swing and hope. You've got to be super lucky. You've got to be lucky just to hit .300."

Rose has been lucky for ten of his years in the majors and ten days ago, he moved past Lou Brock of St. Louis as the all-time hit leader among active National League players. Rose has 2,565 hits during his 14-year career, 49th on the alltime list.

Hot streaks are nothing new for Rose, who is five games away from tying the Reds alltime mark of 27, jointly held by Edd Roush and Vada Pinson. Roush did it twice, in 1920 and 1924, and Pinson equalled it in 1965.

"Another time I hit safely in 39 of 40 games. I hit .400 during that two-month stretch," Rose recalled.

DiMaggio had a .408 batting average and 55 runs batted in during his 1941 batting binge which began on May 15

Ohio-Indiana All-Star Tilt Set Friday

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The uniforms will be different, but the faces will look awfully familiar in Friday night's Indiana-Ohio college All-Star basketball game here.

The Hoosier team will be led by all five seniors on Indiana University's NCAA basketball championship squad.

Bobby Wilkerson, Tom Abernethy and Jim Crews had announced earlier they would play, and All-American Scott May and Quinn Buckner confirmed Monday night they also would participate.

Other members of the Indiana team are Rick Williams and Geoff Shuck of Indiana State, Barry Collier of Butler, Kyle Wiggs of St. Joseph's and John Hunt of Earlham.

The Indiana coach will be Hanover's John Collier.

The Ohio team, coached by Miami's Darrel Hedrick, will be Tom Dunn of Wittenberg, David Bromley of Otterbein, Larry Cole and Mike Larsen of Toledo, Greg Olson and Bill McGinley of Miami, Mike Plunkett of Xavier, Mike Klein of Malone, Scott Love of Ohio University, Bob Grote of Wright State and Andre Richardson of Bowling Green.

The second game in the annual series will be Sunday afternoon at Ohio State's St. John Arena in Columbus.

Bettenhausen Up In Point Standings

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Gary Bettenhausen, who won at New Bremen, Ohio, on Sunday, has moved from 13th to fifth in U.S. Auto Club sprint car point standings this week.

Larry Dickson remains the leader with 118 points, while Tom Bigelow, who finished second at New Bremen, moved from fourth to second at 101 points.

Sheldon Kinser fell from second to third, at 81 points, while Pancho Carter, who finished fourth at New Bremen, advanced from eighth to fourth, at 76 points. Bettenhausen is just two points behind Carter.

and July 17.

"That's got to be baseball's greatest record because of the consistency involved," Rose said.

Rose said he's not even thinking about the 14 in a row from last season.

"You can't let that stuff start working on you," he said. "Actually I've hit safely in 31 of the last 32 games. I should have a 32-game string going."

"I've never hit the ball harder than in the first game of the World Series, yet I didn't get a hit."

Rose was held hitless in the opener by Boston Red Sox pitcher Luis Tiant, but ended up as the top hitter in the series with a .370 average.

Jackson Unhappy

BALTIMORE (AP) — Reggie Jackson says he's not a reluctant Baltimore Oriole, but if something doesn't happen soon to settle the contract stalemate he may not play this season.

In a story by Ken Nigro of the Baltimore Sun, Jackson, who came to the Orioles from the Oakland A's in a multiplayer deal two weeks ago, said he would have signed on the dotted line immediately.

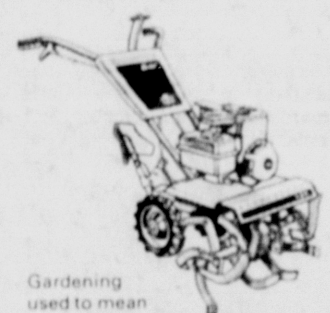

But he said Orioles General Manager Hank Peters never made him an offer during their 10-hour meeting in Tempe, Ariz., shortly after the trade.

The 29-year-old slugger said he's particularly upset about being made the fall guy over what he considers a policy of neglect by the Orioles.

"If it's so important to the fans and the city that I be in Baltimore, then why isn't he (Peters) here," Jackson asked. "Let's talk and talk and talk until we hammer something out. I am not an unreasonable man. I understand the problems on both sides."

Meanwhile, Jackson said he missed baseball "from time to time," but added he is not "in a frenzy to play."

THERE'S A LOT TO APPRECIATE

BUY NOW!

It could pay you to buy a home now.

Prices may never be lower than they are right now. In fact, there's every reason to believe they'll be higher. In the last year, the median price of a single-family dwelling went up 9.2%. And there's no sign of the inflationary spiral winding down.

Now is a good time to negotiate a mortgage loan. Funds are available and interest rates reflect the current situation. They won't go down, either — not while thrift institutions are paying high interest on your savings.

There are plenty of good home buys waiting for you. And your REALTOR® can help you find the right one. Your REALTOR® can also help you arrange financing.

Call your REALTOR® now. If you wait, you could lose more than time. You could lose money, too.

Jack Fultz Winner Of Boston Marathon

BOSTON (AP) — Jack Fultz, a 27-year-old Georgetown University senior, trained his sights on the U.S. Olympic trials today after winning the 80th Boston Marathon with the neighborly assistance of spectators along the route.

Fultz graciously accepted water and ice cubes and a few hosiings as he conquered blistering heat and won the Patriots' Day run from Hopkinton to Boston Monday, qualifying for the Olympic trials May 22 in Oregon.

"You have to give the people with the hoses all the credit in the world," Fultz said. "They made the course tolerable. Otherwise, in this heat, it would have been intolerable."

The temperature was an unofficial 116 degrees on one thermometer in the sun outside Hopkinton High School when the race got under way at noon. There were 1,898 starters, plus about 70 women in their special race.

"The heat affected me, it slowed me down," Fultz said. "I just kept drinking as much as I could without getting cramps. I didn't expect to win until I stepped on the (finish) line. I started slowly, but I saw the leaders most of the time."

Fultz remained off the pace while Richard Mabuza of Swaziland and Radamas Vega of Mexico duelled for the lead. Vega finally dropped out and Mabuza held a 15-second lead over Fultz after 17 1/2 miles. Suddenly, Fultz charged to the front as Mabuza tired.

Fultz, who returned to college after a three-year hitch in the Coast Guard, doused himself with water often without breaking stride as he easily cleared three major hills, including famed "Heartbreak."

He gradually built a commanding lead down the stretch, finishing the 26-mile, 385-yard run in 2 hours, 20 minutes and 19 seconds. Mario Cuevas of Mexico was second in 2:21.13, followed by Jose DeJesus of Puerto Rico in 2:22.10 and preraace favorite Jack Foster of New Zealand in 2:22.30.

THERE'S A LOT TO APPRECIATE

It could pay you to buy a home now.

Prices may never be lower than they are right now. In fact, there's every reason to believe they'll be higher. In the last year, the median price of a single-family dwelling went up 9.2%. And there's no sign of the inflationary spiral winding down.

Now is a good time to negotiate a mortgage loan. Funds are available and interest rates reflect the current situation. They won't go down, either — not while thrift institutions are paying high interest on your savings.

There are plenty of good home buys waiting for you. And your REALTOR® can help you find the right one. Your REALTOR® can also help you arrange financing.

Call your REALTOR® now. If you wait, you could lose more than time. You could lose money, too.

Jack Fultz Winner Of Boston Marathon

BOSTON (AP) — Jack Fultz, a 27-year-old Georgetown University senior, trained his sights on the U.S. Olympic trials today after winning the 80th Boston Marathon with the neighborhood assistance of spectators along the route.

Fultz graciously accepted water and ice cubes and a few hosings as he conquered blistering heat and won the Patriots' Day run from Hopkinton to Boston Monday, qualifying for the Olympic trials May 22 in Oregon.

"You have to give the people with the hoses all the credit in the world," Fultz said. "They made the course tolerable. Otherwise, in this heat, it would have been intolerable."

The temperature was an unofficial 116 degrees on one thermometer in the sun outside Hopkinton High School when the race got under way at noon. There were 1,898 starters, plus about 70 women in their special race.

"The heat affected me, it slowed me down," Fultz said. "I just kept drinking as much as I could without getting cramps. I didn't expect to win until I stepped on the (finish) line. I started slowly, but I saw the leaders most of the time."

Fultz remained off the pace while Richard Mabuza of Swaziland and Radamas Vega of Mexico duelled for the lead. Vega finally dropped out and Mabuza held a 15-second lead over Fultz after 17 1/2 miles. Suddenly, Fultz charged to the front as Mabuza tired.

Fultz, who returned to college after a three-year hitch in the Coast Guard, doused himself with water often without breaking stride as he easily cleared three major hills

McDougall Leads Hockey Scoring

Center speedster Terry McDougall of Fort Wayne held the scoring lead in the International Hockey League playoffs today as four teams battled in the Turner Cup semifinal series.

The 5-foot-8 McDougall has 15 points on four goals and 11 assists to lead regular IHL season high scorer Len Fontaine of Port Huron, who was in a tie for the second spot.

Your Views On Horoscope Television

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Stellar aspects now give slow-moving projects new momentum, indicate better results than even you may have anticipated. Get going!
TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A fine Venus aspect encourages artistic pursuits, romance, family interests. Just one admonition: curb emotionalism.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Curb a present tendency toward inertia, lackadaisical action. Current matters need further study: Some trends changing.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Now you have the opportunity to spread your wings a bit, to investigate new projects, areas of activity. But do not drop well-planned ventures merely for the sake of change.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Excellent solar influences! Capitalize on your dynamic personality - and you can ride ahead with distinction.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Personal matters may need some special attention, perhaps a change of plan. A state of readiness advised, to cope with the unexpected.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Some unusual situations indicated, extraordinary persons with whom to deal. Use the Libran's poise and fine sense of balance to cope.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Enthuse? This may be THE factor needed to keep day out of a rut, free from aggravations. Day also requires understanding of others' needs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Stellar influences indicate some pressure in job matters, but remain steadfast and hopeful. You CAN ADVANCE. Personal affairs promise to be unusually interesting.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Strength of purpose, ingenuity and a thorough knowledge of your ground will be needed now: Put first things FIRST, and don't engage in new undertakings without careful study.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Avoid delays in matters which, while not pressing, should nevertheless be handled before they clutter your program. General progress indicated.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Through sheer personality and persuasiveness, you can be an effective influence in places where stumbling blocks have been raised. Aspects fine!

YOU BORN TODAY are a sensitive, imaginative individual; endowed with a great love of beauty and marked manual dexterity. Benevolent toward your fellowmen, you often become physicians, nurses and workers in humanitarian causes. You also have a deep love for family and home; are a traditionalist at heart and extremely proud of your heritage. The arts appeal to you and, properly trained, you could make a great success as a writer, designer, interior decorator or painter. Other fields suited to your talents: teaching, horticulture, dancing, lecturing. Traits to curb: obstinacy and a tendency to be dogmatic. Birthdate of: Queen Elizabeth II, of England; H. A. Taine, French critic, historian; Charlotte Bronte, Eng. novelist.

Big Bear Stores Directors Agree To Terms Of Sale

Big Bear Stores Company, Columbus, Ohio, announced that it agreed in principle to the sale of its assets and business to a group of private investors.

Under the proposed transaction, which has been approved by the directors of Big Bear subject to certain conditions including the execution of a contract and the approval of shareholders, the buyer will acquire

Deaf School Sets Annual May Festival

The Ohio School for the Deaf, Columbus, and its Parent-Staff Association will sponsor the eighth annual May Festival and Open House on May 2, from 10 a.m., to 4:30 p.m., on the school campus.

As in past years, the May Festival will feature a bazaar, auction, tours of the school, rides and entertainment for children, and refreshments. All proceeds will be used to benefit the children attending school. The May Festival is open to the public.

Postal Bill Faces Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to pump massive new federal aid into the financially troubled Postal Service is moving toward its first Senate test.

Hearings on the bill by the Senate Post Office Committee are expected to conclude today, and a committee vote is due after Congress ends its Easter recess next week.

Committee Chairman Gale W. McGee, sponsor of the bill, called the hearings for this week in a rare move during a congressional recess. The hearings Monday and today were the only ones scheduled on Capitol Hill.

McGee, D-Wyo., ordered the hearings after Postmaster Gen. Benjamin F. Bailar rejected congressional pleas to stop cutting back postal services while the bill is being considered.

Bailar says the Postal Service's financial crisis is so deep that he has "no responsible choice" but to make every possible economy. Additional service cuts could come within a few months, he has said.

The Postal Service is in debt for nearly $3 billion and can meet its payroll only by continuing to borrow money.

McGee's bill to grant the mail agency $4.5 billion in additional appropriations over the next three years won the support of three postal union leaders on Monday. The legislation would approximately double the appropriations during the three-year period.

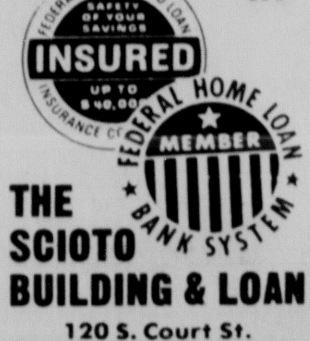

North Canton Couple Victims

DOVER, Ohio (AP) — A North Canton couple was killed and two other persons injured Monday when their vehicle flipped over in an abandoned pit in southwestern Tuscarawas County.

Paul Vance, 25, and his wife, Cynthia, 22, were killed, the county sheriff's office said.

The sheriff's office said the four were members of a four-wheel drive club which leases the pits to practice hill climbing.

Muny Court Report Released

A total of $10,918.30 was collected in fines and bond forfeitures during March by the Circleville Municipal Court. Clerk Carolyn Royster released her report today showing the court's collections and disbursements for the month. The court costs collected in March totaled $4,135.60 bringing the amount of income to $15,053.90.

From that amount, the city received $6,959.29; the county received $3,500.22; the Pickaway County Law Library received $1,339.

The court filed 365 criminal cases during the month and finished 375. Only six cases resulted in all or part of the fines and costs being suspended. The amount suspended totaled $230.

Also during March, the court filed 20 civil suits and finished 11. Municipal Court Judge O. Charles Hosterman performed two marriages and collected $6 for the city treasury.

The small claims division of the court filed 48 cases and concluded 75. The total amount due the city in small claim costs was $179.18.

3 Injured In Crash

Three people were injured in a two-car accident 11:15 a.m. Monday at the intersection of the Circleville-Tarlton Road and Route 23.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Nick Franklin said the drivers involved in the crash were Rita J. Grubb, 50, Route 4, Hillsboro, and Creaton W. Kraft, 82, 658 E. Mound St., who was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Mrs. Grubb was treated for a cut over her right eye and bruises on her right leg. Passenger Eugene Grubb, 58, was treated for a scalp laceration and bumps and bruises, and another passenger, Meletta Grubb, 11, was treated for a hip injury.

All were taken to Berger Hospital's emergency room by the Circleville Emergency Medical Team.

Mrs. Grubb was southbound on Route 23, the deputy said, and Kraft was westbound on the Circleville-Tarlton Road.

He apparently heeded the stop sign, drove across the northbound lanes, and was in the process of crossing the southbound lanes when he was hit by the Grubb car.

Charges Filed After Scuffle

Three men were charged with disorderly conduct by intoxication following a 11:25 p.m. scuffle at Jack's Tavern.

The men are Gary L. Glover, 31, Columbus; Randy Slone, 27, Columbus; and Paul Dozier, 37, Route 5.

Police Ptl. Robert Galer and Jim Ford were summoned to Jack's Tavern to break-up a fight, which was reported to them by bartender Craig Dresbach. Several patrons, including a woman, were reportedly struck.

After separating the combatants, one of the men apparently began an argument with Ptl. Ford. As Ptl. Galer moved to assist, Dozier apparently bolted from the tavern and ran south on Court St.

He was tackled by Ptl. Galer. Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Jim Deal helped incarcerate the men.

Smith Resigns Disaster Post

Pickaway County Commissioners Monday reluctantly accepted the resignation of William L. Smith, 379 Markley Drive, as disaster services coordinator.

In submitting his letter of resignation, Smith stated that he was "finding the job too taxing for my strength." He is recuperating from a severe case of flu and feels it will be quite some time before he regains his strength.

"I appreciate the associations I have had with the commissioners and the support each of you have given me while working on the assignment," Smith said.

In other business, upon the recommendation of County Engineer Henry McCrady, the streets in Logan Elm Subdivision were accepted for public maintenance.

STAR GRANGE

Star Grange met in regular session Tuesday evening in the basement of the Five Points United Methodist Church for its April meeting.

Worthy Master Carroll Reid presided over the business session and heard the various reports. Mrs. Francis Furniss, chairman of the Women's Activity committee, thanked all who donated food and helped with the Banquet Saturday evening.

A "Thank You" note was read from Mrs. Stella Schwart for the flower she received while she was in the hospital. An appeal for aid was answered and it was announced that Pomona Grange will be held on May 7 at the 4-H and Grange Building in Circleville with Star Grange as hosts.

Leora Sayre was a guest for the evening and served as judge for the sewing contest. Mrs. Robert Morgan entered the sewing contest and no one baked the bread.

Mrs. Joan Dawson had charge of the Easter program which opened with group singing, "In The Garden." Easter Legends were presented with Garnett Porter reading about the Robin; Laura Long, the Butterfly; Fran Follrod "The Crown of Thorns," and Ellen Dennis "The Passion Flowers."

She then presented a chitter, chatter and a guessing contest on how many jelly beans in a jar. Herman Porter received the jar of beans as a prize for guessing nearest to the number.

The program closed with group singing "The Old Rugged Cross." The next grange meeting on May 11 will feature inspection and Star is to present the first degree. There will be a practice on May 6 and all grangers are urged to attend.

Registration Set For LE Kindergarten

Registration for children who will enter Kindergarten in the Logan Elm School District next September will be held in the evening so that both parents will be able to attend.

Children who will be attending Laurelville will register Wednesday, April 28 at 7:30 p.m. Registration will be held in the cafeteria of the Laurelville School.

Children who will be attending the McDowell Kindergarten will register on Thursday, April 29 at 7:30 p.m. Registration will be held in the McDowell School.

At this time the parents will have the opportunity to learn more concerning the reading and math programs, reporting procedures and facts concerning the State immunization requirement for children entering school.

Requirements for registration include the child's birth certificate indicating the child will be five years old by September 30, 1976.

Any child entering first grade next fall who is not attending kindergarten class this year also should register in the office of their respective elementary schools on May 7 during school hours. The children entering first grade must be six years of age by September 30.

Proxy material will be filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission in the near future and a stockholders meeting to vote on the transaction will be held.

Wayne E. Brown, president of Big Bear, stated "the group of private investors with whom we have reached agreement are not engaged in the food business, but would be purchasing Big Bear solely as an investment." Brown would continue as chief executive officer for the investment group, and all of the other officers and employees would continue in their present positions.
